Book Bind

Q. I have been buying books and records from Publishers' Central Bureau in New York. In September, they sent me a shipment of books which I already had. I paid the bill, and sent the duplicates back. They acknowledged receipt of the duplicates, but I have yet to receive a refund of my $19. I sent them the original order blank and a copy of my canceled check, but to no avail. C.G., Los Angeles.

A. Evelyn Bennett, customer relations representative for the company, said she would look into the problem and straighten it out. She will contact you by mail.

Park People

Q. In Lakewood, there are several parks named for Latin American heroes, such as Bolivar, San Martin and Del Valle. Who were these men and what did they do? Mrs. W.A.D., Long Beach.

A. Simon Bolivar was known as the "Liberator of South America." The soldier-statesman was born in Caracas, Venezuela in 1783, educated in Madrid, Spain, and travelled widely in the United States and Europe. He is credited with helping Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru achieve independence from Spain. In later years, he became president of Colombia. He died in 1830. Jose de San Martin, a contemporary of Bolivar's, was born in Yapeyu, Argentina, in 1778. At age 7, he went with his aristocratic family to Spain, and received a European education. He returned to Argentina in 1812 and helped gain independence for Argentina and Chile. However, he failed in his attempt to free Peru and argued with Bolivar over strategy. He spent his later life in exile in Europe and died in Boulogne, France in 1850. Jose Cecilio del Valle, was a Central American statesman. He was born in Choluteca, Honduras, in 1780, but grew up and was educated in Guatemala. He studied law at the University of San Carlos and was admitted to the bar at 23. As a young man, he served in many governmental posts and was a reporter for a Guatemalan newspaper. He led the fight for Central American independence from Spain, and was the author and first signer of Central America's Declaration of Independence proclaimed on Sept. 15, 1821. He was president-elect of the Central America Confederation when he died in 1834. Just five years after his death, the Confederation was dissolved and Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Honduras and Costa Rica became independent republics.

Lost Charm

Q. I found a gold charm bracelet on April 12 at Snow Valley. The bracelet has a wedding bell charm on it with the date of July 7, 1945, as well as some organizational charms. Can ACTION LINE help us find the owner? C.H., Long Beach.

A. Yes, ACTION LINE contacted the lodge at Snow Valley. An employee remembered someone has reported losing the bracelet. They rummaged around and located the name of the loser, a Hawthorne woman and contacted her. By now, the woman has got back the gold bracelet with special engraved charms commemorating her marriage and the births of her children — of priceless sentimental value to her. And you, refusing her reward, have her gratitude.

Charge!

Q. I have heard that it is possible to convert a small battery charger into an arc welding unit. Can this be done? L.B., Long Beach.

A. "It can," said Edward Secord, shop manager for Sweeney Electric Company in Los Angeles, "but we wouldn't touch the job with a 10-foot pole!" Secord explained that, although a battery charger and an arc welder operate basically on a common principle, a small welder wouldn't generate enough voltage or current to strike an arc. "For the cost of redesigning and converting a battery charger you could invest in a good, inexpensive arc welder which is engineered for the job," he said. The welding and electrical supply firms ACTION LINE contacted strongly advise you to use your battery charger strictly for what it was designed and buy a small arc welding unit suited to your requirements.

Marker

Q. My husband is buried next to my veteran brother who has a military grave marker. This marker was provided by the Veterans Administration, and I'd like to know if I can get a similar one for my husband's grave. Are there regulations against this? L.M.T., Long Beach.

A. No regulations prevent you from buying a military-style grave plaque, according to a spokesman for the Veterans Administration in Los Angeles. You would have to have it made by a private company, however. The Department of the Army has contracts with monument makers around the country for military plaques, and most monument companies can make them. An ACTION LINE check of three Southland monument companies revealed that granite plaques cost about $65 and bronze markers about $10 more.

Ask U.S. Welfare Takeover

Supreme Court Residency Ruling Cited as Reason

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Democratic assembly leaders proposed Friday that the federal government take over the entire cost of welfare nationwide and give the states a tax break.

Assemblyman John Burton, newly elected president of the California Democratic Council, introduced a measure petitioning Congress to provide full financing of welfare in the wake of a Supreme Court decision abolishing state residency requirements as a condition of eligibility for aid.

Burton's plan drew support from Assembly Democratic leader Jess M. Unruh who told a news conference that "if the Supreme Court is going to continue to render the kind of rulings that we have now, I think it's clearly a federal cost."

Unruh said the $886 million in state and local funds now spent for social welfare, exclusive of Medi-Cal insurance for the needy, could be spent for cutting property taxes for schools in half.

Burton said full federal financing would "equalize living standards, provide for a more stable population, and reduce property and state income taxes."

The court ruled unconstitutional durational residency requirements in Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C. Most state officials believe the action also will apply to California residency rules and those of other states.

Gov. Ronald Reagan denounced the decision as causing "nothing less than a bonus for migrating to California" to get on the state's liberal welfare rolls. He estimated it would cost the state another $35 million next year.

Unruh, expected to be a Democratic candidate for governor, said he was "not prepared to say there will be a mass migration of people here, but there is going to be some."

"WE CANNOT erect barriers to the state of California," he said.

He said if the ruling meant nothing else, "it makes it obvious that from now on, the problem of financing welfare programs is a problem of the federal government."

Unruh called for bipartisan support both in the Legislature and in Congress for the proposal, noting that last year the federal government bent its rules at California's request so the state could adopt tougher restrictions on smog.

The Democratic lawmaker noted that California taxpayers now pay about $2 billion annually for support of schools and the rate was rising. He said federal financing of welfare would save the state government $600 million and property taxpayers $300 million.

"All this money could then be immediately used to reduce school property taxes," he said.

State Water Job Bids Are Called

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The State Department of Water Resources Friday called for bids on a $1.7 million project to complete the Oso pumping plant of the state water project.

Bids will be opened June 1. The plant is on the Los Angeles-Kern County line, about eight miles east of Gorman.

Abernathy Arrested for March

By JERRY MITCHELL

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — Rev. Ralph Abernathy, "doing his duty," was arrested Friday with 49 hospital workers for marching in front of the State Medical College Hospital in violation of a court order limiting pickets.

Charleston County Sheriff William F. Kelly said Abernathy and the others had been charged with violation of the injunction forbidding the workers to have more than 10 persons, spaced 20 feet apart, on the picket line.

The workers are demanding unionization of the hospital.

There was no immediate word on bail for Abernathy and his followers.

EARLIER in the day, Abernathy led 2,500 demonstrators in a march to the hospital but there were no incidents nor arrests during the demonstration.

The march was aimed at Charleston's two largest hospitals — State Medical and Charleston County — which have refused to recognize a union formed by Negro non-professional workers. About 500 workers have been off their jobs more than a month, but must have been replaced.

The only incident in Friday's march occurred as the long line of silent demonstrators passed the State Medical College Hospital and about 40 of them broke from the ranks, ran to the hospital's west entrance and staged a sit-down.

AT THIS POINT, about 30 National Guardsmen in helmets and carrying bayonet-tipped rifles marched up and took up positions at the side of the hospital, between the main body of marchers and the hospital.

Abernathy walked back to the police line, where a policeman stood holding a billy club. Abernathy approached so closely that the club prodded him in the belly. "Go ahead, it feels good on my ulcer, he told the officer.

You can't beat old Christopher Columbus' mileage. Look at all the miles he got out of three galleons.

Police Use Weapons in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bands of Negro students Friday charged police cordons under a railroad viaduct separating black and white neighbors. A youth was shot in the back and seven policemen were injured by missiles thrown in the melees.

Fourteen persons were arrested and 400 policemen were rushed into the area on Chicago's south side before the disturbance was brought under control.

The 16-year-old youth was reported "in trauma — in serious condition" at Cook County Hospital. A spokesman said he was undergoing surgery.

Police questioned and tentatively cleared an off-duty policeman who said he fired several shots into the air "in defense of my home" after several youths hurled rocks at his windows. He said one rock struck his 3-year-old daughter.

Detectives quoted the wounded youth as saying he was shot by a group of youths who were chasing him.

Police drew guns and used clubs to control the charging bands of students. By late afternoon the neighborhood was tense but quiet.

GUNS, FIREBOMBS

No Letup Seen in Campus Disorders

United Press International

Cornell University's president called Friday for an end to guns on campus. A band of black militants took over a faculty building at Colgate University, and fire bombs damaged a library at New York University.

Faculty rebellions against student disorders and administration reaction to them built up at Cornell and strike-closed City College of New York. Black students at Hampton Institute kept a sit-in going in the school's administration building despite agreement by the school's board of trustees to grant amnesty to the protesters.

More than 400 placard-carrying, antiwar demonstrators heckled the annual dress parade of 250 Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets at the University of Vermont.

CAMPUS radicals at Princeton University, who threatened to disrupt a similar ROTC parade, took the drill field and got off — before the cadets showed up. The drill went off without a hitch.

Forty members of Students for a Democratic Society engaged in a shouting match with the head of Harvard University's planning office. Twenty University of Kentucky students, protesting the administration's refusal to reinstate four suspended students, staged a short-lived sit-in at the administration building.

They ended it after being warned they would be removed bodily. Later about 500 students threatened a "sleep-in" at the student center.

DR. JAMES Perkins, Cornell president, told a news conference guns must be eliminated on the Ithaca, N.Y., campus before other issues can be resolved. He said plans were being made to begin an inspection of living quarters for weapons.

The blacks at Colgate barricaded themselves inside Merrill House, a faculty club, on the Hamilton, N.Y., campus to back their demands for a black cultural center.

The campus chapter of SDS demanded that police be kept off the campus and said "should they be brought in, it is quite simple — the university is finished."

A fire started by Molotov cocktails damaged the interior of the engineering library on NYU's Bronx campus. Seven fire bombs were thrown or placed in the building and five ignited. No injuries were reported and damage was described as light.

STUDENTS staged a sit-in on the Bronx campus earlier this week to protest the firing of a popular English instructor. Faculty resentment increased at Cornell over what some professors called the university's "surrender to terrorist"

AF Craft on Mission to Vietnam

BANGKOK (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane identical in type to the Navy aircraft shot down by North Korea crashed on takeoff from Korat Air Base Friday, killing all 18 crewmen, the U.S. Embassy said. It was bound for a mission connected with the Vietnam war.

The embassy said the Air Force plane slammed into an unpopulated rice paddy area about three miles northwest of Korat, a U.S. Fighter-Bomber base, about 4:10 p.m. Saturday. Korat is about 250 miles northeast of Bangkok and is a jumping off place for Vietnam air raids.

CAUSE OF the crash was not known. The embassy said a board of officers had been appointed to investigate the crash.

U.S. military police moved in quickly to cordon off the area until the wreckage — presumably littered with the costly and secretive electronics gear — could be removed for examination.

Officials were quick to insist that the mission of the Air Force plane in no way resembled that of the U.S. Navy EC-121 shot down over the Sea of Japan April 14. All 31 crewmembers lost their lives when that plane was attacked by North Korean MIGs while conducting reconnaissance off North Korea.

THE U.S. Embassy here described the mission of the Air Force plane as a "routine tactical air reconnaissance activity" connected with the Vietnam war effort. It did not specify over what territory the plane was scheduled to fly in that mission. They reportedly have been used in connection with fighter and bomber missions.

Identities of the dead crewmen were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Police Arrest Hawthorne Bar Murder Suspect

A 22-year-old machinist was arrested by Hawthorne police Friday in the shooting death of Herbert M. Greminger, 37, of 9739 San Carlos Ave., found dead outside a bar at 4405 Imperial Highway.

Robert Heath, 22, of 1130 1/2 Burin Ave., Inglewood, was booked on suspicion of murder after witnesses at the bar said he and Greminger had an argument a half-hour prior to the shooting at midnight Friday.

Lucinda Lands a Marine

Combined News Service

Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, tanned and rugged son-in-law of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, came home Friday from 13 months of Vietnam warfare and was captured by the grin of his 6-month-old daughter. Robb, husband of the older Johnson daughter, Lynda Bird, looked straight and fit but was 'shaken by the first sight of the baby girl.

"She's drooling!" shouted the tall, thin leatherneck. Lynda handed him a tiny white cloth with a Marine Corps emblem on it to wipe the baby's mouth.

The former president and Mrs. Johnson, Lynda Bird and the baby flew to Dallas from the LBJ ranch in central Texas to meet Robb, who came in from the Pacific Coast on a commercial flight. Mr. and Mrs. James Robb of Milwaukee, Robb's parents, also greeted him. Robb was the second of Johnson's sons-in-law to come home from Vietnam. Patrick Nugent, an Air Force enlisted man and husband of Johnson's younger daughter Luci Baines, returned April 2.

Johnson held the baby while awaiting the landing of Robb's plane. Lynda had the infant when Robb got off the jetliner. He kissed Lynda and took his daughter, Lucinda Desha, born six months ago Friday.

"You are just as cute as you can be and you don't even know who this is," Robb said to the baby. "I can see right now that we are going to have to get much better acquainted."

Robb hugged Mrs. Johnson and shook hands with Johnson. "How are you, Mr. President?" he asked. "It feels just great to be home. It feels wonderful."

The Marine major and his family plan to spend about 30 days at the LBJ ranch in Texas then Robb will report to his new assignment in Washington at the Pentagon, where he will work in the procurement section.

AVIATRIX TO COPILOT SAS PLANE

Pretty, blonde Turi Wideroe has broken the coffee-tea-or-milk barrier. Scandinavian Airlines System says she's the first woman in the Western world to qualify as a pilot for international passenger flights.

At 31, Turi is a veteran of many pilot hours with her father's bush flying service in northern Norway. A spokesman said she applied to become an SAS pilot and passed the line's theoretical and practical tests with very good results. She is scheduled for her maiden passenger flight May 8, copilotting a twin-engine propeller plane from Oslo to Arctic Norway.

Turi is qualified to fly the prop planes internationally, the airline said.

ARTIST DENIES 3 KILLINGS

A Negro artist, charged with the murders of three white hippies, denied the crimes Friday, but acknowledged visiting the victims minutes before the execution-type shootings, police said. Robert M. Jahmelik, 35, said he lent his cigarette lighter to William Joseph Oswald Jr., 24, of Concord, Calif., to heat a heroin solution for a "fix" Thursday morning. He said another man and two girls, Margaret Jo Fochtman, 18, and Cinda Marie Taylor, 19, were present.

When he returned to retrieve his forgotten lighter, he said, police had surrounded the apartment and he learned that Oswald and the girls had been slain. Police said the three had been shot as they knelt on the floor in the flat on the fringe of the Haight-Ashbury hippie district.

Police said the victims were known in the area as "burn artists," who set up narcotics deals, the delivered worthless powders.

A 'New Bloodbath' Feared in Belfast

Combined News Services

BELFAST — Britain Friday ordered additional troops into Northern Ireland where saboteurs cut Belfast's water supply to a bucket-a-day-per-person. The situation left fire officials on edge and threatened to topple the prime minister. Saboteurs described as "real professionals" Friday blew up the third 54-inch water main supplying this city of 500,000 residents. Protestant extremists immediately threatened to take their battle against Roman Catholics into the city's streets to silence Catholic demands for more civil rights. "Belfast is racing toward a new bloodbath," city Coroner Dr. Herbert Lowe said. Politicians said pressures from within the ruling Unionist Party against "one man, one vote" demands by Catholics in local elections and other demands by civil rights advocates make the resignation of Premier Terence O'Neill imminent. The Unionist Party council plans to meet May 5 and could decide to sack O'Neill.

Equipment Transfer May Set Pattern

WASHINGTON, Saturday — A Ceremony in Vietnam today could set a pattern for the reduction of U.S. forces, Pentagon officials said. At the ceremony in Can Tho the 8th Battalion of the 77th Artillery Regiment attached to the 9th Infantry Division will complete the transfer of its equipment to the South Vietnamese Army. This transfer and those to follow in the next few months will not reduce U.S. forces since the 2,500 men in the disbanded units will complete their Vietnam tours in other assignments.

'Destiny of France' in Hands of Voters

PARIS — President Charles de Gaulle solemnly warned the nation Friday night he would resign at once if he were defeated in Sunday's constitutional referendum. He said the vote would "put at stake the destiny of France." In a television and radio statement, De Gaulle said his defeat in the nationwide vote would rekindle the bitter struggle for power that forced the collapse of the Fourth Republic and brought him back to power in 1958. The warning, second by De Gaulle that he would quit, came in the wake of public opinion polls indicating the 78-year-old president might lose in the Sunday referendum he called to push through a regionalization program and reform of the French senate.

North Korea Ready for 'All Out War'

SEOUL — North Korea warned Friday that "we are fully prepared to return retaliation for retaliation, all-out war for all-out war" if the U.S. hits back for the spy plane Communist jets shot down last week. The warning from Pyongyang accompanied South Korean President Park Chung-hee's assertion in a news conference that the North Koreans were trying to egg the U.S. into retaliating so they could summon Red China or Russia into another Korean war. The Communist broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, and Park's news conference came as a fleet of 29 American warships cruised the sea off Korea to guard further reconnaissance flights.

500 Red Czechs in Mass Resignation

PRAGUE — About 500 members of Czechoslovakia's Communist party in one region of the country quit in apparent protest over the downfall of reformist leader Alexander Dubcek, the party newspaper Rude Pravo reported Friday. It urged other members to stand fast. The regime which replaced Dubcek in a shakeup approved by the USSR cracked down anew Friday on both the Czechoslovak press and foreign journalists. A West German newsman was expelled from the country.

Nazi Hunt to Go On Indefinitely

BONN — The West German government proposed Friday that the hunt for major Nazi mass murderers go on indefinitely. But it advised public prosecutors and the courts to continue showing leniency to "small fry" accomplices who became involved in Nazi murders against their will. Justice Minister Horst Ehmke, a Social Democrat, described these unwilling accomplices as "victims of the Nazi terror regime."

Lung Cancer Toll Rising, Expert Says

WASHINGTON — A specialist in preventive medicine said Friday that lung cancer will kill 70,000 Americans a year by 1980 unless Congress allows restrictions on cigarette advertising. The expert was Dr. David R. Rutstein, head of Harvard Medical School, who appeared before a House commerce subcommittee that is considering whether to extend a 1965 Cigarette Labeling Act that prohibits any restrictions on smoking ads. Rutstein said, that without some curb on cigarette ads, "there will be in the U.S. by 1980 more than 70,000 Americans dying each year from lung cancer." He noted that in 1957 he had predicted that lung cancer would cause an additional 2,000 deaths a year and that statistics showed that as of 1966, the increase was averaging slightly more than 2,000 yearly. He added that in 1955, 25,000 persons died from lung cancer and this figure had climbed to 51,478 by 1966.

2 Quentin Negroes Stab 4 Whites

SAN QUENTIN — Two Negro inmates stabbed four white prisoners Friday in apparent retaliation for the killing of a Negro prisoner earlier this week. Extra armed guards were posted on the "gunwalks" ringing the state's largest prison when tension rose among other prisoners after the attack. Later the assailants were apprehended, locked in isolation cells and the extra guards were removed. Prison officials, who said they could see no other reason for the stabbing than retaliation, took swift security measures in view of past incidents.

Explosions Prompt Evacuation of Town

EAST GERMANTOWN — An explosion and fire in a jumbled heap of derailed freight train box cars and tankers forced complete evacuation of this town of more than 300 residents Friday for fear of more blasts and deadly chemical fumes. A Penn-Central Railroad train of 110 cars was rolling eastward from Indianapolis to Harrisburg, Pa., when cars began derailling. Before the 1 1/4 mile long train dragged to a stop, more than 60 cars had jumped the tracks and a vast junkyard had been created in a matter of seconds at the east edge of East Germantown. An explosion touched off a fire that sent smoke billowing hundreds of feet into the air. Threats of more explosions, and lethal fumes prompted the evacuation.

Mississippi River May Breach Dikes

CHICAGO — The flood crest of the Mississippi rolled into the Quad Cities industrial complex of Illinois and Iowa Friday and the weather bureau warned that expected weekend wind and rain could breach dikes along the mighty river. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has estimated that the dikes thus far have averted $1 billion damages along the Mississippi now carrying 144.7 billion gallons a day. Winds of 25 to 35 miles an hour were forecast for the weekend. The weather bureau said an inch of rain could raise the river, now carrying double its normal volume, six inches higher than previous predictions.

Oil Allowance a 'Necessary Incentive'

WASHINGTON — President Nixon favors continuation of the 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance as a necessary incentive to the industry, the White House said Friday. Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler was asked for Nixon's views on reports that Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, may seek to lower the allowance in his tax reform package.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Lucinda Lands a Marine

Combined News Service

Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb, tanned and rugged son-in-law of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, came home Friday from 13 months of Vietnam warfare and was captured by the grin of his 6-month-old daughter. Robb, husband of the older Johnson daughter, Lynda Bird, looked straight and fit but was shaken by the first sight of the baby girl.

"She's drooling!" shouted the tall, thin leatherneck. Lynda handed him a tiny white cloth with a Marine Corps emblem on it to wipe the baby's mouth.

The former president and Mrs. Johnson, Lynda Bird and the baby flew to Dallas from the LBJ ranch in central Texas to meet Robb, who came in from the Pacific Coast on a commercial flight. Mr. and Mrs. James Robb of Milwaukee, Robb's parents, also greeted him. Robb was the second of Johnson's sons-in-law to come home from Vietnam. Patrick Nugent, an Air Force enlisted man and husband of Johnson's younger daughter Luci Baines, returned April 2.

Johnson held the baby while awaiting the landing of Robb's plane. Lynda had the infant when Robb got off the jetliner. He kissed Lynda and took his daughter, Lucinda Desha, born six months ago Friday.

"You are just as cute as you can be and you don't even know who this is," Robb said to the baby. "I can see right now that we are going to have to get much better acquainted."

Robb hugged Mrs. Johnson and shook hands with Johnson. "How are you, Mr. President?" he asked. "It feels just great to be home. It feels wonderful."

The Marine major and his family plan to spend about 30 days at the LBJ ranch in Texas then Robb will report to his new assignment in Washington at the Pentagon, where he will work in the procurement section.

AVIATRIX TO COPILOT SAS PLANE

Pretty, blonde Turi Wideroe has broken the coffee-tea-or-milk barrier. Scandinavian Airlines System says she's the first woman in the Western world to qualify as a pilot for international passenger flights.

At 31, Turi is a veteran of many pilot hours with her father's bush flying service in northern Norway. A spokesman said she applied to become an SAS pilot and passed the line's theoretical and practical tests with very good results. She is scheduled for her maiden passenger flight May 8, copilotting a twin-engine propeller plane from Oslo to Arctic Norway.

Turi is qualified to fly the prop planes internationally, the airline said.

Rafferty Will Seek Re-Election

Still Has Some Unfinished School Programs

By DENNIS J. OPATRYN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Max Rafferty disclosed Friday he intends to seek re-election for a third term as state superintendent of public instruction.

"I came here to do a job," Rafferty told UPI in an exclusive interview. "I got most of it done. When I finish, I'll leave."

Asked specifically if he is a candidate for re-election as schoolmaster of the nation's most populous state, Rafferty replied: "As far as I know now I am."

RAFFERTY was first elected to the $25,000-a-year post in 1962 and pledged to reverse the trend in California from "progressive education" — life adjustment — to "education in depth" — fundamental like the three Rs.

He was re-elected to a second term in the 1966 primary election by rolling up 3 million votes, 1.5 million more than all his three opponents combined.

He defeated veteran Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel in the GOP primary election last year for the U.S. Senate nomination, but was in turn defeated in the general election by Alan Cranston, a Democrat.

He returned to his post in the vast State Department of Education and has not spoken out on political topics since.

ASKED IF he would challenge Republican Sen. George Murphy next year or Cranston in 1974, he replied:

"I think the people of California had a chance to elect me before. I'm not going to insult them by running again."

An outspoken conservative he said he would seek re-election to his current job to complete a program of 27 goals he set down for the department in 1962.

He said 22 have been accomplished and he intends to work toward achievement of the remaining five during a third four-year term.

HE SAID he has retained the public relations firm of Index Associates to "collect campaign funds." The firm is operated by Lyn Nofziger, former communications director for Gov. Ronald Reagan, and also ran the last part of Rafferty's unsuccessful senate bid.

Rafferty said two of his remaining goals are to make his job appointive by the State Board of Education, which is now appointed by the governor. He said the board should be elected.

Voters last year defeated a constitutional amendment that would have permitted the Legislature to make the superintendent an appointed post.

WATTS CHALK-IN PLANNED SUNDAY

The third annual Watts Chalk-In, an art contest utilizing a city block of pavement as a canvas, will be held at 9 a.m. Sunday.

One block of Grandee Street in front of the Studio Watts School for the Arts at 10311 Grandee will be roped off for the contest, which is open to the public.

Each contestant will be provided with a four-foot square of area of asphalt surface to create an original design in colored chalk with a five-hour time limit.

Winners will be named the same day in student, professional, and popular-vote categories. A panel of five judges will decide winners in the first two categories, while spectator balloting will select the popular-vote winner.

The contest offers $1,500 in art fellowships and commissions as prizes to the winners.

Insiders All Agree County Budget Will Be a Whopper

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau

The county will get its first look at a proposed budget for 1969-70 Tuesday, and everybody who has anything to do with it says it will set records.

Even Chief Administrative Officer L.S. Hollinger, always cautious in his statements, admits that much.

"I think you can say," he said, "that apparently the budget will be larger than last year."

HE WON'T suggest how much, and the truth is he does not really know. His staff is still working on the figures. The struggle traditionally goes on through the late hours of the Monday night preceding the Tuesday morning when the Board of Supervisors sees the more than 500 pages of tables and charts.

Some profess detailed though, than Hollinger.

Chairman E. E. Debs sees a vast upswing in costs, largely because of swelling welfare demands.

"Now that the U.S. Supreme Court has removed residency requirements," he said, "we face real trouble with the budget. And we will continue to face it until and unless the state and federal governments pay the increased costs of the thousands who will come here because of this decisions." Some profess detailed knowledge.

Supervisor Frank Bonelli said he expects the tax rate to go up about 25 cents. That, of course, is on $100 of assessed property value. It would mean an increase of about $12 on a $20,000 home.

Supervisor Burton Chace said he would wait to see Hollinger's budget before making any comments.

"I DON'T HAVE enough detailed information," Chace said, "to base a statement on."

Officials who asked to be anonymous were sure the taxpayers are about to be hit with a truly staggering budget.

"It isn't only welfare," one said. "Of course there will have to be provisions for an influx of people on general relief into Los Angeles County. But everything points to increased expenditures — population growth, rising employment, higher wages, you name it."

Another major factor will be new court buildings, required by the state, but which must be paid for out of county tax revenues.

Whatever Hollinger's budget, officials agree there will be changes. Hollinger always says his requests are as modest as good government and human needs will permit, but the supervisors for many years have made reductions.

Observers, in fact, suggested Bonelli's tax forecast was in the nature of a warning big cuts will be coming.

Even so, nobody was arguing with his figures.

"Even without this welfare ruling," one official said, "there would have been no way of keeping the tax rate down. We have more than 62,000 people working for the county. Last year we had less than 56,000. The numbers will continue going up, and with the inflation you have now, salaries will have to go up sharply too."

THE TOTAL budget last year, after all the reductions, was about $1.5 billion. That includes money from the state and federal governments for local programs.

Now, apparently, the county is on its way to $2 billion, in five years or less.

"Of course the budget will be larger," one official said. "And the tax rate will go up. It's been that way for years. Why should we expect anything to be different this time?"

Sirhan Hearing Is Postponed

Associated Press

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan took no apparent interest Friday as defense attorneys obtained a one-week postponement—to May 21—for motions for a new trial and his formal sentencing as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassin.

The hearing took only six minutes.

The 25-year-old Jordanian-born Arab glanced casually about the room for a second or so after guards seated him next to his attorneys, with his back to newsmen and spectators.

GRANT COOPER, chief defense counsel, began by telling Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker that "I wasn't thinking clearly" when he originally said May 14 would be agreeable for the trial motions and sentencing. Cooper said he had a previous commitment and asked for a postponement of one week or two.

No objection, said David Fitts, one of the prosecutors.

Walker set 9 a.m. May 21.

Judge Walker has the power to set aside the jury-set death sentence and impose life, but in 19 similar cases he has done so only once. California law requires an automatic review of death sentences by the State Supreme Court. Sirhan's attorneys have said they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Rafferty Will Seek Re-Election

Still Has Some Unfinished

School Programs

By DENNIS J. OPATRY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Max Rafferty disclosed Friday he intends to seek re-election for a third term as state superintendent of public instruction.

"I came here to do a job," Rafferty told UPI in an exclusive interview. "I got most of it done. When I finish, I'll leave."

Asked specifically if he is a candidate for re-election as schoolmaster of the nation's most populous state, Rafferty replied: "As far as I know now I am."

RAFFERTY was first elected to the $25,000-a-year post in 1962 and pledged to reverse the trend in California from "progressive education" — life adjustment — to "education in depth" — fundamental like the three Rs.

He was re-elected to a second term in the 1966 primary election by rolling up 3 million votes, 1.5 million more than all his three opponents combined.

He defeated veteran Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel in the GOP primary election last year for the U.S. Senate nomination, but was in turn defeated in the general election by Alan Cranston, a Democrat.

He returned to his post in the vast State Department of Education and has not spoken out on political topics since.

ASKED IF he would challenge Republican Sen. George Murphy next year or Cranston in 1974, he replied:

"I think the people of California had a chance to elect me before. I'm not going to insult them by running again."

An outspoken conservative he said he would seek re-election to his current job to complete a program of 27 goals he set down for the department in 1962.

He said 22 have been accomplished and he intends to work toward achievement of the remaining five during a third four-year term.

HE SAID he has retained the public relations firm of Index Associates to "collect campaign funds." The firm is operated by Lyn Nofziger, former communications director for Gov. Ronald Reagan, and also ran the last part of Rafferty's unsuccessful senate bid.

Rafferty said two of his remaining goals are to make his job appointive by the State Board of Education, which is now appointed by the governor. He said the board should be elected.

Voters last year defeated a constitutional amendment that would have permitted the Legislature to make the superintendency an appointed post.

WATTS CHALK-IN PLANNED SUNDAY

The third annual Watts Chalk-In, an art contest utilizing a city block of pavement as a canvas, will be held at 9 a.m. Sunday.

One block of Grandee Street in front of the Studio Watts School for the Arts at 10311 Grandee will be roped off for the contest, which is open to the public.

Each contestant will be provided with a four-foot square of area of asphalt surface to create an original design in colored chalk with a five-hour time limit.

Winners will be named the same day in student, professional, and popular-vote categories. A panel of five judges will decide winners in the first two categories, while spectator balloting will select the popular-vote winner.

The contest offers $1,500 in art fellowships and commissions as prizes to the winners.

Insiders All Agree County Budget Will Be a Whopper

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau

The county will get its first look at a proposed budget for 1969-70 Tuesday, and everybody who had anything to do with it says it will set records.

Even Chief Administrative Officer L.S. Hollinger, always cautious in his statements, admits that much.

"I think you can say," he said, "that apparently the budget will be larger than last year."

HE WON'T suggest how much, and the truth is he does not really know. His staff is still working on the figures. The struggle traditionally goes on through the late hours of the Monday night preceding the Tuesday morning when the Board of Supervisors sees the more than 500 pages of tables and charts.

Some profess detailed though, than Hollinger.

Chairman E. E. Debs sees a vast upswing in costs, largely because of swelling welfare demands.

"Now that the U.S. Supreme Court has removed residency requirements," he said, "we face real trouble with the budget. And we will continue to face it until and unless the state and federal governments pay the increased costs of the thousands who will come here because of these decisions." Some profess detailed knowledge.

Supervisor Frank Bonelli said he expects the tax rate to go up about 25 cents. That, of course, is on $100 of assessed property value. It would mean an increase of about $12 on a $20,000 home.

Supervisor Burton Chace said he would wait to see Hollinger's budget before making any comments.

"I DON'T HAVE enough detailed information," Chace said, "to base a statement on."

Officials who asked to be anonymous were sure the taxpayers are about to be hit with a truly staggering budget.

"It isn't only welfare," one said. "Of course there will have to be provisions for an influx of people on general relief into Los Angeles County. But everything points to increased expenditures — population growth, rising employment, higher wages, you name it."

Another major factor will be new court buildings, required by the state, but which must be paid for out of county tax revenues.

Whatever Hillinger's budget, officials agree there will be changes. Hollinger always says his requests are as modest as good government and human needs will permit, but the supervisors for many years have made reductions.

Observers, in fact, suggested Bonelli's tax forecast was in the nature of a warning big cuts will be coming.

Mutiny Defendant Bolts Courtroom, Sobs on Mother

FORT ORD (UPI) — A 20-year-old Vietnam combat veteran on trial for mutiny bolted from the courtroom in tears Friday, lunging past six military policemen to reach the door.

Pvt. Richard Gentile of Hampton, Va., jumped up as the court convened and grabbed his mother who was sitting in the row behind, sobbing. "I can't stand it anymore, I can't stand it anymore," he cried.

GENTILE rushed out of the tiny makeshift courtroom on this sprawling ocean-side training base and refused to return when the MPS followed him outside.

His attorney, Terence Hallinan of San Francisco, finally persuaded him to return but Gentile continued to weep in the courtroom. Hallinan claimed Gentile was kept in a barren "segregation cell" Thursday night because the youth flashed a "V" sign at friends in court.

Gentile is one of 14 soldiers on trial for taking part in a sit-down demonstration at the San Francisco Presidio stockade last Oct. 14. Hallinan contends 27 prisoners who participated in the demonstration were protesting the death three days earlier of a fellow inmate shot by a guard during an alleged escape attempt. They were also protesting bad conditions in the Presidio stockade, according to Hallinan.

He contends the soldiers were psychologically disturbed by the shooting of Pvt. Richard Bunch of Dayton, Ohio.

A defense witness, San Francisco psychiatrist Lawrence Levitin, testified Friday one of Hallinan's defendants suffered a "transient psychotic episode" because of the Bunch shooting.

LEVITIN said Pvt. Buddy Shaw was "fearful and filled with hopelessness," similar to combat fatigue, when he joined the protest.

Eight of the 27 defendants have been convicted of mutiny and sentenced to terms ranging from nine months to 16 years. Two are under medical care. Three later escaped from the stockade.

Gentile escaped last December when he walked out of the psychiatric ward at Letterman General Hospital, but was later returned to the stockade. He was sent to Letterman after putting a 10-inch slash in his arm a few days before.

GOV. REAGAN LENDS GOLD SPIKE TO UTAH
Milton Weilenmann Accepts Historical Memento for Celebration

Utah Gets Gold Spike for Fete

INTERRUPTED REAGAN Unidentified Pair Set Biltmore Fires

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan turned over to Utah Friday the golden spike that united the nation by rail nearly 100 years ago at Promontory, Utah.

Reagan made the presentation to Utah officials at a ceremony where he also turned the first earth in the reconstruction of "Old Sacramento" historic area along the Sacramento River.

The first of 20 buildings to be rebuilt will be the "Big Four" structure. It first housed the hardware store of Mark Hopkins and Collis P. Huntington and later became the headquarters for the Central Pacific Railroad.

HOPKINS, Huntington, Leland Stanford and Charles Crocker built the Central Pacific — now the Southern Pacific — from Sacramento to Utah where the eastbound rails met the Union Pacific.

The centennial of the meeting, where Stanford pounded the golden spike, May 10, 1869, will be celebrated two weeks from Saturday.

On behalf of Gov. Calvin Rampton, Milton L. Weilenmann presented Reagan with a set of Utah copper bookends and a silver half-dollar.

THE SPIKE will be returned to its permanent home at Stanford University following the Golden Spike Centennial ceremonies.

New Fairchild Unit Formed

MOUNTAIN VIEW (AP) — Fairchild Camera & Instrument Corp. announced Friday formation of a new Microwave & Electronics Division to concentrate on the microwave and photo-devices market.

Dr. John Atalla, since 1968 director of the solid-state laboratory of Hewlett-Packard, will join Fairchild May 15 as corporate vice president and general manager of the new division.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Biltmore Hotel said Friday two unidentified young men apparently were responsible for fires and exploding firecrackers that interrupted Gov. Ronald Reagan's Thursday night speech to a Mexican-American group.

Manager Baron Bernard said there was an elevator power failure shortly before Reagan was scheduled to address Nuevas Vistas, a group of Mexican-American educators who successfully lobbied for legislation to permit the teaching of primary grade classes in languages other than English.

Fires broke out in linen closets and wastebaskets on the 10th, ninth, fourth, second and mezzanine floors.

Reagan Will 'Face Nation' During Trip

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan leaves Sunday for a trip which will include two speeches before he attends the Republican governors' conference at Lexington, Ky.

Monday the Republican chief executive will address a Municipal Forum luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel in New York City, and on Tuesday night he addresses a dinner of the Rhode Island Republican State Central Committee at Cranston, R.I.

Before the Rhode Island dinner, he and Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monaghan of Tracy and Democratic Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka will speak at a luncheon in New York sponsored by the California State Chamber of Commerce.

As the fires were being put out, several firecrackers were tossed from the mezzanine into the Biltmore Bowl, where Reagan was speaking. Police quickly sealed off access to the room and Reagan went on speaking. The arsonists escaped during the confusion.

During Reagan's speech, 14 persons arose from the audience and clapped and shouted in Spanish. Reagan continued his talk until the demonstrators took over the dance floor. Then the governor said: "OK, get them out of here."

Police and hotel security guards arrested the 12 men and two women on suspicion of disrupting a public meeting.

DO YOUR TEEN-AGERS UNDERSTAND YOU?

Today many teen-agers feel that anyone over the age of 30 simply doesn't know. Rebellion sometimes seems to him to be the only way of life — the only answer.

Irresponsibility and rebellion aren't the only way of life for the teen-ager. What is important to him as a way of life? Isn't it a deep desire to search for Truth — for meaning in his own life?

This is why young people like the Christian Science Sunday School. They get a chance to think for themselves, and to dig deep for ideas they can prove and use. They find out who they are and why they are here.

Above all, they discover the solid basis for freedom in obedience to God. This helps them understand you! Your teen-agers are welcome at our Sunday School, any Sunday morning. Classes 9:15 & 11 A.M. Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist

APPEALS TO BOTH PARTIES

Stay Out of Mayoral Race, State GOP Chief Urges

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

NEWPORT BEACH — State Republican Chairman Dennis E. Carpenter Friday urged both major political parties to keep out of the Los Angeles mayoral race.

Although stressing Democratic involvement, Carpenter noted "it is unfortunate that a few Republicans have also fallen into this error."

He said a recent statement by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Illinois, which favored, but did not endorse, Councilman Tom Bradley in the mayoral race, "will be misconstrued by many people as endorsement."

Views of individuals do not in any way represent the party, Carpenter said, adding "I strongly urge all Republican legislators and party officials who are not residents of Los Angeles to refrain from involvement in that race."

Carpenter expressed the hope that "the Democratic Party will withdraw its involvement."

Partisan involvement, he said, could be detrimental to the entire structure of local government in California.

The new state party chairman gave his views at a news conference after a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican State Central Committee in brand-new state GOP headquarters adjacent to the Orange County Airport here.

In another matter, Senator Howard Way, R-California, a leading contender to replace Democratic Senator Hugh Burns, of Fresno, as Senate president pro tem, criticized press reference to the "ousting of Burns" as an impediment to Republicans asserting their majority status.

Way said Burns has run

a "bi-partisan shop" and has solid GOP friends who bridle at the suggestion "he be ousted."

But Way said the effort to win the seat for Republicans will continue, possibly aided by a Democratic coalition that dislikes Burns.

State Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, told newsmen of the favorable response to his letter query to party leaders regarding his running for attorney general in 1970.

JOAN OF JOHNS' LOSES Pay Potty Bill Goes Down Drain

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An all-male committee with barely enough members for a quorum Friday killed a lady lawmaker's attempt to force the coin locks off all toilets in California's public buildings.

"Although there were no audible votes against the bill by Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, the chairman of the Government Administration Committee, Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City, said the bill was dead."

Only 6 of the 11 committee members were present at the hearing. It takes six votes to get a bill out of committee and Britschgi opposed the measure although he didn't vote.

Mrs. Fong earlier smashed a potty to bits with a sledgehammer on the state Capitol steps Friday in her melodramatic campaign to strip the locks from pay toilets.

To the strains of "The Best Things in Life Are Free" played by a Dixieland band, Assemblywoman Fong aimed the first blow at the potty lock and brought the sledgehammer down with a stout swing.

She missed and nearly lost her balance, but received a round of applause from an estimated 200 onlookers and supporters.

She hefted the sledgehammer again and took two more bold swings. The second did the job and the potty's big symbolic wood padlock splintered. The crowd cheered.

For good measure, Mrs. Fong lifted the undamaged porcelain potty lid high into the air and smashed it against the steps.

The crowd shouted its support and waved placards proclaiming, "Go Now — Pay Later," "Down with Pay Potties," and "Free Love and Free Speech — Why Not Free Toilets?"

Mrs. Vincent Azzara, Sacramento, co-chairman of the "Pay Potty Movement," introduced Mrs. Fong to the crowd as the "Joan of Johns."

STEADIED VIA RADIO Mariner 6 Jiggled by Dust Particles

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 6, the Mars-bound space probe that will take pictures of the red planet this summer, has been "distracted" by dust particles necessitating a series of radio commands to its on-board computer.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the commands were transmitted as a precautionary measure to alter the method of the spacecraft's stabilization as it flies past the planet.

A JPL spokesman said the decision was made because of a possible problem with the spacecraft receiver and known problems with the Canopus star tracker. The commands programmed the computer to turn on gyroscopes automatically for the science-taking phase of the mission.

Using the spacecraft gyros to provide a stable platform to point instruments at Mars and the high-gain antennae toward Earth is an alternate stabilization procedure. Normally stabilization is provided by optical sensors that lock onto the sun and the star Canopus.

Mariner project manager H. M. "Bud" Schurmeier said the star tracker was distracted by tiny bright dust particles apparently shaken off the spacecraft both at the time of a mid-course maneuver Feb. 28 and when Mariner 6's science-scan platform was unlatched.

Utah Gets Gold Spike for Fete

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan turned over to Utah Friday the golden spike that united the nation by rail nearly 100 years ago at Promontory, Utah.

Reagan made the presentation to Utah officials at a ceremony where he also turned the first earth in the reconstruction of "Old Sacramento" historic area along the Sacramento River.

The first of 20 buildings to be rebuilt will be the "Big Four" structure. It first housed the hardware store of Mark Hopkins and Collis P. Huntington and later became the headquarters for the Central Pacific Railroad.

HOPKINS, Huntington, Leland Stanford and Charles Crocker built the Central Pacific — now the Southern Pacific — from Sacramento to Utah where the eastbound rails met the Union Pacific.

The centennial of the meeting, where Stanford pounded the golden spike, May 10, 1869, will be celebrated two weeks from Saturday.

On behalf of Gov. Calvin Rampton, Milton L. Weilenmann presented Reagan with a set of Utah copper bookends and a silver half-dollar.

THE SPIKE will be returned to its permanent home at Stanford University following the Golden Spike Centennial ceremonies.

New Fairchild Unit Formed

MOUNTAIN VIEW (AP) — Fairchild Camera & Instrument Corp. announced Friday formation of a new Microwave & Electronics Division to concentrate on the microwave and photo-devices market.

Dr. John Atalla, since 1966 director of the solid-state laboratory of Hewlett-Packard, will join Fairchild May 15 as corporate vice president and general manager of the new division.

INTERRUPTED REAGAN Unidentified Pair Set Biltmore Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Biltmore Hotel said Friday two unidentified young men apparently were responsible for fires and exploding firecrackers that interrupted Gov. Ronald Reagan's Thursday night speech to a Mexican-American group.

Manager Baron Bernard said there was an elevator power failure shortly before Reagan was scheduled to address Nuevas Vistas, a group of Mexican-American educators who successfully lobbied for legislation to permit the teaching of primary grade classes in languages other than English.

Fires broke out in linen closets and wastebaskets on the 10th, ninth, fourth, second and mezzanine floors.

Reagan Will 'Face Nation' During Trip

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan leaves Sunday for a trip which will include two speeches before he attends the Republican governors' conference at Lexington, Ky.

Monday the Republican chief executive will address a Municipal Forum luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel in New York City, and on Tuesday night he addresses a dinner of the Rhode Island Republican State Central Committee at Cranston, R.I.

Before the Rhode Island dinner, he and Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monaghan of Tracy and Democratic Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka will speak at a luncheon in New York sponsored by the California State Chamber of Commerce.

As the fires were being put out, several firecrackers were tossed from the mezzanine into the Biltmore Bowl, where Reagan was speaking. Police quickly sealed off access to the room and Reagan went on speaking. The arsonists escaped during the confusion.

During Reagan's speech, 14 persons arose from the audience and clapped and shouted in Spanish. Reagan continued his talk until the demonstrators took over the dance floor. Then the governor said: "OK, get them out of here."

Police and hotel security guards arrested the 12 men and two women on suspicion of disrupting a public meeting.

DO YOUR TEEN-AGERS UNDERSTAND YOU?

Today many teen-agers feel that anyone over the age of 30 simply doesn't know. Rebellion sometimes seems to him to be the only way of life — the only answer.

Irresponsibility and rebellion aren't the only way of life for the teen-ager. What is important to him as a way of life? Isn't it a deep desire to search for Truth — for meaning in his own life?

This is why young people like the Christian Science Sunday School. They get a chance to think for themselves, and to dig deep for ideas they can prove and use. They find out who they are and why they are here.

Above all, they discover the solid basis for freedom in obedience to God. This helps them understand you! Your teen-agers are welcome at our Sunday School, any Sunday morning.

APPEALS TO BOTH PARTIES

Stay Out of Mayoral Race, State GOP Chief Urges

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

NEWPORT BEACH — State Republican Chairman Dennis E. Carpenter Friday urged both major political parties to keep out of the Los Angeles mayoral race.

Although stressing Democratic involvement, Carpenter noted "it is unfortunate that a few Republicans have also fallen into this error."

He said a recent statement by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Illinois, which favored, but did not endorse, Councilman Tom Bradley in the mayoral race, "will be misconstrued by many people as endorsement."

Views of individuals do not in any way represent the party, Carpenter said, adding "I strongly urge all Republican legislators and party officials who are not residents of Los Angeles to refrain from involvement in that race."

Carpenter expressed the hope that "the Democratic Party will withdraw its involvement."

Partisan involvement, he said, could be detrimental to the entire structure of local government in California.

The new state party chairman gave his views at a news conference after a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican State Central Committee in brand-new state GOP headquarters adjacent to the Orange County Airport here.

In another matter, Senator Howard Way, R-Exeter, a leading contender to replace Democratic Senator Hugh Burns, of Fresno, as Senate president pro tem, criticized press reference to the "ousting of Burns" as an impediment to Republicans asserting their majority status.

Way said Burns has run

a "bi-partisan shop" and has solid GOP friends who bridge at the suggestion "he be ousted."

But Way said the effort to win the seat for Republicans will continue, possibly aided by a Democratic coalition that dislikes Burns.

State Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, told newsmen of the favorable response to his letter query to party leaders regarding his running for attorney general in 1970.

'JOAN OF JOHNS' LOSES Pay Potty Bill Goes Down Drain

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An all-male committee with barely enough members for a quorum Friday killed a lady lawmaker's attempt to force the coin locks off all toilets in California's public buildings.

Although there were no audible votes against the bill by Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, the chairman of the Government Administration Committee, Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City, said the bill was dead.

Only 6 of the 11 committee members were present at the hearing. It takes six votes to get a bill out of committee and Britschgi opposed the measure although he didn't vote.

Mrs. Fong earlier smashed a potty to bits with a sledgehammer on the state Capitol steps Friday in her melodramatic campaign to strip the locks from pay toilets.

To the strains of "The Best Things in Life Are Free" played by a Dixieland band, Assemblywoman Fong aimed the first blow at the potty lock and brought the sledgehammer down with a stout swing.

She missed and nearly lost her balance, but received a round of applause from an estimated 200 onlookers and supporters.

She hefted the sledgehammer again and took two more bold swings. The second did the job and the potty's big symbolic wood padlock splintered. The crowd cheered.

For good measure, Mrs. Fong lifted the undamaged porcelain potty lid high into the air and smashed it against the steps.

The crowd shouted its support and waved placards proclaiming, "Go Now — Pay Later," "Down with Pay Potties," and "Free Love and Free Speech — Why Not Free Toilets?"

Mrs. Vincent Azzara, Sacramento, co-chairman of the "Pay Potty Movement," introduced Mrs. Fong to the crowd as the "Joan of Johns."

Mariner 6 Jiggled by Dust Particles

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 6, the Mars-bound space probe that will take pictures of the red planet this summer, has been "distracted" by dust particles necessitating a series of radio commands to its on-board computer.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the commands were transmitted as a precautionary measure to alter the method of the spacecraft's stabilization as it flies past the planet.

A JPL spokesman said the decision was made because of a possible problem with the spacecraft receiver and known problems with the Canopus star tracker. The commands programmed the computer to turn on gyroscopes automatically for the science-taking phase of the mission.

Using the spacecraft gyros to provide a stable platform to point instruments at Mars and the high-gain antennae toward Earth is an alternate stabilization procedure. Normally stabilization is provided by optical sensors that lock onto the sun and the star Canopus.

Mariner project manager H. M. "Bud" Schurmeier said the star tracker was distracted by tiny bright dust particles apparently shaken off the spacecraft both at the time of a mid-course maneuver Feb. 28 and when Mariner 6's science-scan platform was unlatched.

McCarthy Warns Demos to 'Reform'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, still bitter about his losing campaign for the 1968 Democratic presidential nomination, warned his party Friday that he would not urge his followers to work within it again unless it adopted major reforms.

He appeared before the Democratic National Committee's special commission on reforming party structure and convention delegate selection. The commission, created as a result of the turmoil that beset the 1968 Democratic National Convention at Chicago, is headed by Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

McCarthy and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1965 vice presidential nominee, recommended that the Democrats hold national conventions at least every two years. Both major parties now hold conventions every four years to nominate presidential candidates and to adopt platforms.

THE DEAN of the school said attendance Friday ran "fairly heavy."

Several hundred students picketed against and counter-picketed for ROTC on the campus at St. John's University in Jamaica, Queens, N.Y. There were minor scuffles and considerable shouting but no major clashes.

About 150 Negroes staged a chanting, singing demonstration at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio, while OU President Vernon Alden promised a delegation that a Black Studies Institute and more black administrative and academic positions would be established.

New York City officials made new legal efforts to oust sitters-in who have been ensconced in a Queensborough community college building for five days.

A starvation vigil by five St. Bonaventure University students continued at Olean, N.Y., on behalf of six students who left campus after a narcotics investigation. University of Kentucky officials turned down demands by dissidents that six students, suspended after arrests on narcotics charges, be reinstated immediately.

Mascons Revive Theories About Creation of Moon

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Six more concentrations of dense matter beneath the moon's surface have been detected by lunar orbiters, three California scientists reported here Friday.

In a paper submitted to a meeting of the American Geophysical Union, the scientists from the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena doubles the number of such concentrations — called mascons — detected under the lunar surface.

The discoveries have re-kindled theories that the moon's features might, in part, have been created by ancient seas and rivers.

JPL scientists Paul M.

mended that the Democrats hold national conventions at least every two years. Both major parties now hold conventions every four years to nominate presidential candidates and to adopt platforms.

Senate Democratic Whip Edward M. Kennedy, a prospective candidate for the 1972 nomination, told the commission that the next convention will be of little benefit to anyone if it engages in protracted quarrels over rules and seating delegates.

McCarthy testified that the commission must do more than offer treatment for superficial wounds.

"Many delegations failed to reflect in Chicago the strength that had been demonstrated in support of issues and candidates in the states from which they came," he said.

He recalled that he had urged young people last year to work within the Democratic Party but that during the Chicago Convention he had said he would not repeat the request unless the party underwent changes.

"I am here to state that position again," he said.

When McGovern asked about the hopes for keeping people involved in the political process, McCarthy replied that none of the youth leaders in his campaign had joined the "extremist position" but that some had reservations about the political system.

McCarthy likened the election campaign to a professional basketball game, with both teams tied near the end and each maneuvering to sink the winning shot in the final seconds.

"If the Democratic Party is to be a significant and valid instrument of political action in two-party politics, it must as a minimum, change its procedures so that the popular judgment of its members will, with some assurance and certainty, be translated into a party position," he said.

McCarthy suggested that biennial or even annual conventions would look less like carnivals and circuses and would permit more serious concern with party policies. He urged that convention delegates be chosen on a one-man, one-vote basis or by proportional representation.

IF BUILDUP GOES ON

Laird Sees Russ Arms Superiority

By WILLIAM BEECHER
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird asserted Friday that if the Soviet Union continued the pace of its missile buildup it could have 2,500 long-range missiles by 1975, more than twice the present American force.

"Based upon the best information available to me as secretary of defense," he said, "I must conclude that the Soviet Union has the capability of achieving by the mid-1970's a superiority over the presently authorized and programmed forces of the United States in all areas—offensive strategic forces, defensive strategic forces and conventional forces."

In a speech at a meeting of the United Press International Florida Newspaper Editors Association in Panama City, Fla., and released in Washington, Laird used his gloomy projection of a growing potential threat to underscore his plea for the Administration's Safeguard antimissile program.

"The Safeguard system is the minimal step necessary at this time to ensure that the safety and security of the American people will be preserved if arms limitation talks are not successful in the coming months and years."

THE PROPOSED $6-billion to $7-billion safeguard program is encountering determined opposition in the Congress.

Many argue, Laird said, that Russia will not maintain its present level of defense activity. But such arguments are based primarily on guesswork over Russia's intentions, he said.

"This could lead to a major and irremediable miscalculation if our judgment on intentions proves faulty."

Rapid Transit Tube Urged for S.F. Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golden Gate Bridge directors were urged Friday to approve construction of a $490-million rapid transit tube connecting San Rafael and downtown San Francisco.

San Francisco supervisor William Blake said the tube could be financed by general obligation bonds from the six counties in the bridge and highway district.

Some directors favor going into the commuter bus business to replace Greyhound. Blake said if they would approve the tube an interim bus system could be established while it is being built.

Wheeler Questions Task Force Expense

New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said Friday that the task force dispatched to the Sea of Japan to protect American reconnaissance flights was "inordinately expensive."

He indicated it could not be sustained as a long-range project.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler told a special House investigating committee that the 29-ship force off Korea is "what the Navy calls a surge operations," one that can only be maintained "for a limited period of time."

The general said he could not give any cost figure for the operation. Earlier, Pentagon officials had insisted that it would not cost much more than the separate use of the same ships and aircraft in other Pacific locations.

UNDER questioning for the first time on both the capture by North Korea of the U.S.S. Pueblo last year and North Korea's shooting down of the Navy EC-121 electronic surveillance plane on April 15 with 31 men aboard, Wheeler indicated that the military was trying to work out some other way to carry out President Nixon's mandate to protect such flights.

"Right now," he said, "we are evaluating a number of courses of action that will permit us to give protection to future reconnaissance flights, not only in the Sea of Japan but in other high risk areas."

Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., the committee chairman, asked Wheeler if he believed the information obtained from the reconnaissance programs had been worth the loss of the Pueblo last year and the loss this month of the EC-121 — the imprisonment of the Pueblo's 82-man crew for 11 months and the death of one sailor; and the loss of the 32 men aboard the plane.

"The program is absolutely essential," the general replied. "I believe it will be continued. Obviously, we will have to take further precautionary measures to make sure these illegal acts will not recur."

Later, when questioned outside the hearing, Pike disagreed.

"THE VALUE of what we have gotten out of these missions over the last several years has not been worth the cost," he said flatly.

On two occasions, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs refused to contradict a statement by his commander in chief, President Nixon, at a news conference a week earlier.

The President had said that "the North Koreans had warned and threatened the Pueblo for a period of several weeks before they seized it." Virtually all the evidence before the Pike committee, both public and secret, is contrary. "This committee is aware of the evaluation given by the intelligence community," Wheeler said when asked if the Nixon

WASHINGTON — Six more concentrations of dense matter beneath the moon's surface have been detected by lunar orbiters, three California scientists reported here Friday.

In a paper submitted to a meeting of the American Geophysical Union, the scientists from the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena doubles the number of such concentrations — called mascons — detected under the lunar surface.

The discoveries have re-kindled theories that the moon's features might, in part, have been created by ancient seas and rivers.

LOCATING of the mascons is vital to manned moon missions, since their gravitational effect accelerates the speed of the orbiting command module and could dangerously increase the descent of the lunar excursion craft.

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird asserted Friday that if the Soviet Union continued the pace of its missile buildup it could have 2,500 long-range missiles by 1975, more than twice the present American force.

"Based upon the best information available to me as secretary of defense," he said, "I must conclude that the Soviet Union has the capability of achieving by the mid-1970's a superiority over the presently authorized and programmed forces of the United States in all areas—offensive strategic forces, defensive strategic forces and conventional forces."

In a speech at a meeting of the United Press International Florida Newspaper Editors Association in Panama City, Fla., and released in Washington, Laird used his gloomy projection of a growing potential threat to underscore his plea for the Administration's Safeguard antimissile program.

"The Safeguard system is the minimal step necessary at this time to ensure that the safety and security of the American people will be preserved if arms limitation talks are not successful in the coming months and years."

THE PROPOSED $6-billion to $7-billion safeguard program is encountering determined opposition in the Congress.

Many argue, Laird said, that Russia will not maintain its present level of defense activity. But such arguments are based primarily on guesswork over Russia's intentions, he said.

"This could lead to a major and irretrievable miscalculation if our judgment on intentions proves faulty."

Wheeler Questions Task Force Expense

New York Times Service WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said Friday that the task force dispatched to the Sea of Japan to protect American reconnaissance flights was "inordinately expensive." He indicated it could not be sustained as a long-range project.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler told a special House investigating committee that the 29-ship force off Korea is "what the Navy calls a surge operations," one that can only be maintained "for a limited period of time."

The general said he could not give any cost figure for the operation. Earlier, Pentagon officials had insisted that it would not cost much more than the separate use of the same ships and aircraft in other Pacific locations.

UNDER questioning for the first time on both the capture by North Korea of the U.S.S. Pueblo last year and North Korea's shooting down of the Navy EC-121 electronic surveillance plane on April 15 with 31 men aboard, Wheeler indicated that the military was trying to work out some other way to carry out President Nixon's mandate to protect such flights.

"Right now," he said, "we are evaluating a number of courses of action that will permit us to give protection to future reconnaissance flights, not only in the Sea of Japan but in other high risk areas."

Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., the committee chairman, asked Wheeler if he believed the information obtained from the reconnaissance programs had been worth the loss of the Pueblo last year and the loss this month of the EC-121 — the imprisonment of the Pueblo's 82-man crew for 11 months and the death of one sailor; and the loss of the 32 men aboard the plane.

"The program is absolutely essential," the general replied. "I believe it will be continued. Obviously, we will have to take further precautionary measures to make sure these illegal acts will not recur."

Later, when questioned outside the hearing, Pike disagreed.

"THE VALUE of what we have gotten out of these missions over the last several years has not been worth the cost," he said flatly.

On two occasions, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs refused to contradict a statement by his commander in chief, President Nixon, at a news conference a week earlier.

The President had said that "the North Koreans had warned and threatened the Pueblo for a period of several weeks before they seized it." Virtually all the evidence before the Pike committee, both public and secret, is contrary.

"This committee is aware of the evaluation given by the intelligence community," Wheeler said when asked if the Nixon statement was true. "Very respectfully, sir, I do not think I can add anything to the situation."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon summoned FBI director J. Edgar Hoover to dinner at his Camp David retreat Friday night, presumably to discuss a broad range of domestic security problems including student unrest on the nation's college campuses.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who flew here aboard the President's helicopter in late afternoon, will join the dinner discussion with the 74-year-old Hoover, whose mandatory retirement at 70 was waived by former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Nixon reaffirmed Johnson's action.

White House officials described the meeting in advance as a "general talk" bearing no relation whatever with Hoover's eventual retirement.

Also accompanying Nixon to the retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Western Maryland were presidential assistant H. R. Haldeman, appointments secretary Dwight Chapin and press secretary Ronald Ziegler.

WHITE HOUSE GARDENS IN SPRING BLOOM

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 80 members of the Horticultural Society of New York cast critical and knowing eyes over the White House gardens in the spring sunshine Friday and pronounced them lovely.

The gardens were almost at their springtime peak.

Blue and white pansies bloomed among the yellow, red, peach and white tulips. The pale lavender wisteria blossoms hung heavy on the iron railing along the south steps.

Down by the tennis court, the crabapple trees were in full bloom. So were redbud and dogwood trees.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon received the members of the society at a tea in the white house. Head gardener Irvin Williams then led a stroll around the White House lawn, first to the rose garden, then down by the fountain and back to the east garden named for Jacqueline Kennedy.

Near the tennis court, the horticultural experts took a peek into the children's garden installed by President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson last December.

Four tiny bentwood rocking chairs stood empty beside the fishpond in which Little Patrick Lyndon Nugent, the Johnson's grandson, fell last year.

The Stayman Winesap apple tree beside the pond was blooming, and Williams said, "We hope it will have apples this fall."

The first flagstones of the walk leading into the children's garden bear the footprints of little Lyndon and the handprint of Lucinda Desha Robb, granddaughter of the Johnsons.

The president of the horticultural society, Charles D. Webster, Islet, N.Y., presented Mrs. Nixon with some cuttings from a white flowering redbud tree which the society is giving to the White House grounds.

in 29 states, largely in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut and seven foreign countries.

Mrs. Nixon asked him and the gardener to pick out a spot for the tree, and the two decided it would go on the south lawn near the east garden.

"I think it will be beautiful — it will be a lovely addition to the White House," Mrs. Nixon said.

The New York society is a group of amateur and professional gardeners with about 5,000 members

Mineral King Project to Create 'New Image'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The project manager of the proposed recreational development of the Mineral King area of Sequoia National Forest said Friday the winter wonderland will change the image of farm-oriented Tulare County.

"It'll give the area an image you wouldn't have just by industrial development," Robert B. Hicks told the Sacramento Press Club.

Walt Disney's production, which was awarded a 30-year lease for an 80-acre development of Mineral King by the U.S. Forest Service, plans a $35-million winter resort for the wilderness area.

Disney put Hicks in charge of planning the development, which will include a village with lodges capable of housing 3,300 persons, ski lifts, ice skating and other recreational facilities. It will open in 1973.

Hicks said the resort will pour $4 million annually into state and county coffers from taxes and provide 2,500 new jobs. The development will be 55 miles east of Visalia in the Sierra.

"Some people are dedicated to the use of the mountain areas and not to letting anybody else use them," Hicks said, apparently referring to conservationists' contention the area should remain an undeveloped wilderness.

HE SAID the resort, which will resemble an Alpine village, will be "family-oriented" and offer Southern Californians a close winter recreational area.

Hicks said Walt Disney, before his death, planned the development "to make the public more aware of the wilderness and nature."

Trees Increase Value of Property

Trees represent money, directly increasing the property value of the home or estate.

According to the Utah Association of Nurserymen and the National Shade Tree Conference's guide, published in Grounds Maintenance magazine, the actual dollar value of the shade tree varies with the diameter of the trunk.

The guide indicates that a tree having the trunk diameter of two inches and a 3.14 square inch cross section is worth $21.98 if it is deciduous and $31.40 if it is evergreen.

A tree having a trunk diameter of 48 inches with a 1,809.6 square inch cross section is worth $12,667.20 if it is deciduous and $18,096.00 if it is an evergreen, according to the guide. Each inch of growth increases the value of the tree.

THE AESTHETIC value of the tree cannot be measured in dollars and cents, of course, but the value of the property reflects the care with which the trees have been planted and tended. And certainly the value of the property is increased or reduced by the intangible — thought analytical — factors of artistic gardening.

Care of trees begins at the roots. The type of growth the gardener observes above ground is determined by the type of root system the particular plant possesses. To get the proper top growth, deep watering and a good nutritional program is necessary to promote a vital root growth.

All fertilizer must be in solution and at the feeding roots, located under and beyond the outside drip branches.

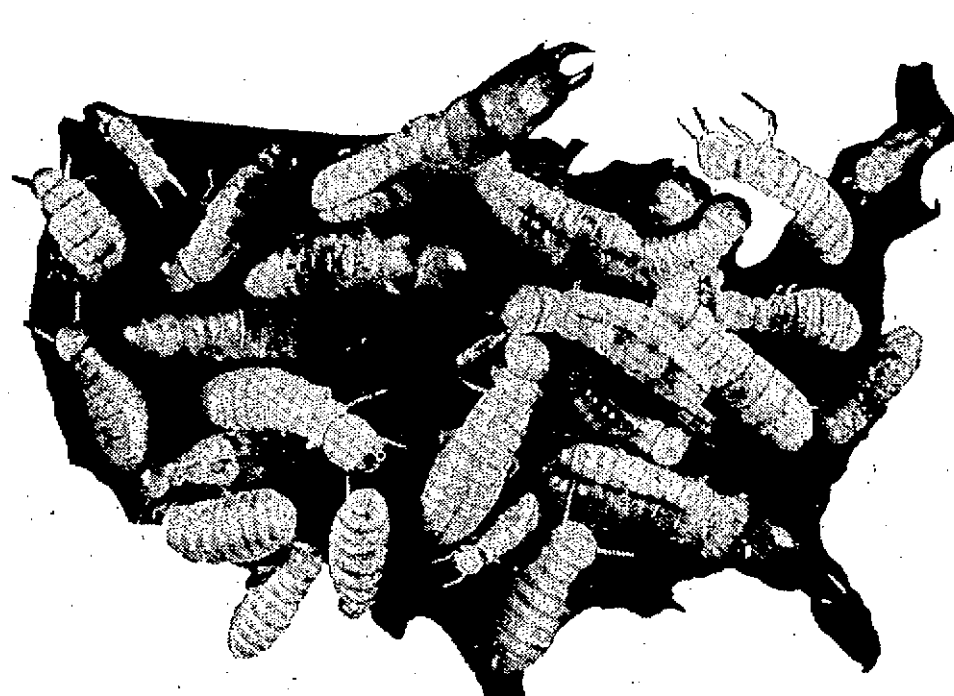

Continued drought periods and lack of nutrition are among the hidden dangers that can kill a tree. Hunger signs for which to look include: leaves not normal in size; yellow or chlorotic leaves; sparse foliage which is thinner than normal; crown full of dead branches; dying back of branches at the tips, and short or stunted annual twig growth.

While a well-fed tree will often blunt attack by borers and a host of fungi and bacteria that produce leaf spots, heart and sapwood rots, fire blight anthracnose, galls, canker and needle blight — aphids and other sucking type insects can spell real trouble for your trees. Control of these is a must for health of the plant.

There are insecticides on the market which can accomplish this purpose. Joe Littlefield's garden column, which appears each week on these pages, carries constantly updated information on this subject.

Los Angeles County, you've got termites.

Stop costly termites! Now! With a Gold Crest Chemical "Barrier"

Destructive termites are active in every state (except Alaska). Including right in this area! Be sure your home — and your investment — is protected with scientific Gold Crest Chemicals.

Prevention is cheaper than repairs. Don't take chances. A 1/64th-inch crack is all subterranean termites need to sneak inside, do costly damage — run up big repair bills — reduce resale value — or worse.

Stop termite damage with a Gold Crest Chemical "barrier" — created by your professional Pest Control Specialist. Using scientific methods and advanced Gold Crest Chemicals, he treats the soil deep around the foundation — crawlspace — under slabs — hidden points of entry. Your home is protected for years.

Call your professional Pest Control Specialist who displays the Gold Crest hallmark. When you buy or build, ask him to check with your builder or architect. Insist on Gold Crest Chemical Protection against termites. It's the only way to be sure.

Your Pest Control Specialist who displays this symbol is reliable — professional — and stands back of his work. Check the Yellow Pages — call today.

L.B. Men's Landscapes Honored

Two Long Beach landscape architects will be among the winners of the Landscape Architecture Award of Merit to be presented by California Garden Clubs, Inc., Thursday.

Edward R. Lowell, 3916 Pine Ave., will receive the award for his design of Atlantic Research Corp. missiles systems plant at Costa Mesa.

Linesch and Reynolds, American Society of Landscape Architects member firm, 320 Bixby St., claims honors for the design of South Bay Daily Breeze office complex in Torrance.

Following the award ceremony in San Francisco's Palace Hotel, California Garden Club members will be given a brunch and a tour of outstanding garden sites in the city. Joining the tour will be Mrs. C. Carroll Stough of Long Beach and Mrs. John Reilly of Newport Beach.

SOW NEW GRASS NOW

This is the season to sow new grass or dichondra lawns while weather still is cool. Lawns sprout, and slowly develop a sturdy root system. Warming weather forces them to grow quicker and develop into a good summer lawn. Dichondra will take longer to cover.

The quickest way to have new but fully grown grass or dichondra is to sod it within less than a day! Check your nursery about it.

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Those deciduous Magnolias that bloom in late winter and spring need some attention now. Some varieties grow into small size trees. They can be kept down to a desirable size by pruning. This should be done before they begin to grow robustly. Mulch them with manure, and month and a half later feed them an all purpose plant food. Water them generously as they need it. By late winter into early spring they'll reward you with more lovely blossoms and fragrance too!

One of the delightfully fragrant evergreen shrubs that worry some gardeners during the spring season is the gardenia. A percentage of the old leaves turn yellow to orange in color. This is normal due to the oncoming new growth as the days become warmer while the nights remain cold. Gardeners forget this happens late each winter and early spring, and again to a lesser degree in the fall season. However, should the gardenia foliage be an anemic color, it may be due to alkali soil condition. If so, three applications of one of the "irons" at six week intervals should clear up that condition.

THERE ARE two different problems that gardenia buds of Veitchi — the shade loving variety — and Mystery gardenia — the sun loving one — are subjected to. The first is when healthy looking green buds drop off. This is due to temperature variation — spells of warm weather suddenly changing to cold, cloudy, damp days. The condition occurs periodically with the weather changes until usually late June. Thereafter, the weather becomes evenly warm to warmer and the nights milder. The green buds then stay on and flower beautifully.

The second problem is due to thrips that attack the green buds, first browning the petal edges while they're still in a tight bud form, then the buds themselves. We've seen buds which have a dark brown color and are dry.

Control the thrips by spraying with an insecticide spray that lists thrips as one of the numerous kinds of pests it controls. Add a little scale-oil spray to the thrips spray to make it stick better to the leaves and buds for more insecticide effectiveness.

HERE'S A DICHONDRA lawn problem that was easy to solve. The manager of a building had me look at the outdoor western side of the building to diagnose the thinning dichondra lawn adjoining the shrubbery plants near the building wall.

Dichondra leaves had disappeared and only the live straggly runner branches partially covered the lawn soil. The answer to that problem was most obvious. Coarse cover bark had been spread all over the soil and close to the plant trunks. The bark and soil was kept constantly moist in this partly shaded area making it inviting to snails and slugs. Their main source of food was the nearby dichondra, and they sure had feasted on the foliage and leaf stalks!

I proved out the problem by pointing to some icy looking tracks over the cover bark and portions of the rest of the lawn, plus the slugs under the bark.

The answer to that problem was to water the lawn in that area much less frequently, and still less often the cover bark portion. Next, to periodically scatter a snail-slug bait that attracts the pests to it and effectively kills them.

The better answer to covering the soil, if a person doesn't like to look at bare soil between the shrubs, is to plant Ajuga repens which is not as tenaciously invasive as is Helixia moss (baby's tears). Ajuga is kept from growing close to the plant trunks by rooting them up.

CLUB NOTES

The annual spring flower show of the Belmont Heights Garden Club will be held May 4 at the Third Street and Termino Ave. church. Entries are expected by 11 a.m. for judging. Visitors are welcome at 1 p.m.

The Santa Monica Bay chapter of the African Violet Society of America will hold its 17th annual exhibit May 9, at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. "Violet festival" has been chosen as the theme of the two-day show, which will be open to the public. Hours are from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. May 9, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. May 10. Five artistic classes featuring African violet plants and three arrangement classes using cut violet blossoms are planned. The public is invited.

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Q. I was given a beautiful Easter lily. Can you tell me how to keep the bulbs, and when to put it in, so I might have a lily in time for Easter next season? Should it be in a pot, or should it be put in the ground?

A. It grows better in the ground in half shade and half sun. Mix some organic material and a spoonful of bone meal with the soil you dug out for the lily. Place the root ball in the plant hole. Jab a thin bamboo stake or some other kind into the soil beside the root ball. The stake height should be tall enough so four inches of it is above the ground level. The stake serves as a marker to warn you not to dig near the stake when plant foliage has died down. Fill prepared soil around root ball to ground level and water well. The roots stand moist soil when dormant. It will not bloom next year at Easter season, but two months later. This is due to the fact the plant is growing normally, not being forced to flower at Easter. Forced ones are grown in a glass house.

Q. I have been trying to find the name of this little white flower which I have pressed and enclosed. Nurseries seem to be at a loss for the name. However, they have told me to do as I have done, — send a flower to you for they said if anyone knew the name, it would be you.

A. It's tough to have nurserymen put me on the spot like that! Luckily and happily I can name it. It is Ornithogalum umbellatum, "Star of Bethlehem".

ROSE CARE

Bare soil around newly sprouted bare-root planted roses; shade-fruit-flowering trees should be covered by half inch of manure or some spread-mulch material. It provides light feeding action, keeps soil from drying and crusting, and encourages better growth.

JOBS TO DO NOW

FEED fuchsias a high nitrogen-content fertilizer several times, then switch to a very low nitrogen but high in phosphoric acid and potash fertilizer. Fuchsias in containers usually are fed a liquid type fertilizer, and some in the ground too. The liquid-fed plants are fed oftener because the liquids don't last as long as the dry form such as the granular or the pellet form. Those growing in the ground usually are fed the dry form.

THERE'S a great difference between a rose sucker and a rose basal (succulent) cane which develops into a good long branch. The rose sucker grows out from below the bud union area or from the trunk, or grows up from a root beside the rose trunk, and is no good! The basal cane (succulent) cane grows out from the bud union area, or from near the base of an old cane.

GROOM, pick dead leaves off Bergenia (Saxifrage), then cut off old fading leaves. Spray the plants if any pests such as aphids or thrips are found. Feed the plants. You easily can start more plants by cutting off some of the good branches. Cut the branch base horizontally, plant it two inches deep in the soil. Keep moist, but not soggy wet. They'll soon root and you'll have new plants.

Job-Drive Gets Underway

More than 50 top employers have been invited to attend the kickoff of a 3,000 summer jobs for youth campaign at 8 a.m. on the Long Beach City College business and technology campus, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Highway.

The job drive, sponsored by the Long Beach Youth Opportunity Center, seeks to enlist cooperation from businessmen to help avoid duplication of effort — saving time for employers and students seeking summer and career jobs.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade will make opening remarks at the campaign kick-off breakfast, and other speakers will represent government and business.

Last year the Long Beach effort secured about 2,000 youth jobs.

Until this year the job-finding campaign was called Graduate Month, and various Saturdays during the period were termed "G-Days," when students were interviewed by prospective employers.

"This year, however, we invite both students who desire summer jobs only, and graduates looking for permanent jobs, to register with us and to be interviewed by employers on one of the three Saturdays when we will remain open," Mrs. Mary E. Nelson, manager of the Youth Opportunity Center, 1318 Pine Ave., said.

"The Jobs for Youth days are May 17 and 24, and June 7," she said, adding an estimated 500 graduates are expected to use the center's facilities in seeking permanent jobs, and another 4,500 will seek summer work.

BUSINESSMEN TO AID HARD-CORE JOBLESS

An all-out effort to find jobs for hard core unemployed will be launched Wednesday when the National Alliance of Businessmen of Orange County meets in the Anaheim Convention Center.

Businessmen and potential employers have been invited to the 6:30 p.m. opening dinner in the Anaheim Room.

Plans for the program, designed to achieve the NAB's national goals, as set forth by President Nixon, will be explained.

Purpose of the program is to find jobs for hard core unemployed persons on a "hire first" basis, then offer them on-the-job training and remedial counseling to prepare them for permanent jobs.

S. F. Eyestone, president of North American Rockwell's Autonetics Division, was recently appointed by President Nixon as Orange County chairman for the drive.

Eyestone said a two-pronged program—one to identify the potential job candidates and the other to find them jobs—has already been started among prominent businessmen from all over the county.

Appointments made include: Richard Berte, vice chairman, John P. Condon, director of organization and Allen Deming, deputy director of organization.

THREE-WAY OIL AGREEMENT

From Our L.A. Bureau
A three-way agreement involving Los Angeles and Orange Counties and the city of Long Beach will make it possible to bring additional pressure to the offshore Long Beach oil fields.

The pact will be signed by officials from three agencies — the Los Angeles County Flood Control District, the Orange County Water District, and the city Water Department.

Company Recruiting Japanese

Kaynar Manufacturing Co. of Fullerton is attempting unusual recruitment of Japanese machine tool operators for its operations in the U.S., the Japan Emigration Service said Friday.

Many Japanese come to the U.S. each year, but they usually move at their own initiative or with Japanese government assistance.

The Emigration Service said Kaynar is seeking 15 to 20 skilled workers, but it said it believes the U.S. firm is prepared to hire more if they are available and qualified.

For a five-day, 40-hour week the company was offering the Japanese workers $3.50 an hour or $560 a month, the Emigration Service said.

One U.S. official in Tokyo said this is the equivalent to the monthly salary of some top Japanese executives.

Adventists See Ethnic Integration

GLENDAL — The education director of the Pacific Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists said here Friday plans are under way to integrate ethnic studies into all applicable courses of Adventist parochial schools in a five-state Western area.

Lowell R. Rasmussen, Glendale, education director of the church conference, said the new studies will be integrated into existing courses "as soon as possible."

"While the contribution of all ethnic groups to our American heritage will receive attention in the studies developed, those of black Americans and Mexican-Americans will receive major attention," Rasmussen said.

The church education head said 21,000 students in 175 Seventh-day Adventist elementary and secondary schools in California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Hawaii will receive the new ethnic studies.

Channel Section to Flood District

From Our L.A. Bureau
The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will give a recently completed section of the San Gabriel River channel in the Long Beach area to the county Flood Control District.

Some $1.6 million had been spent on the work, officials said. The project involved excavation to increase outlet capacity of the watercourse from the junction of the river and Coyote Creek to the ocean.

It calls for using the supply pipeline in the Alamitos sea barrier project, owned by the two counties.

The Long Beach Water Department will pay $8,000 a year in rent.

ON LBCC CAMPUS

Job-Drive Gets Underway

More than 50 top employers have been invited to attend the kickoff of a 3,000 summer jobs for youth campaign at 8 a.m. on the Long Beach City College business and technology campus, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Highway.

The job drive, sponsored by the Long Beach Youth Opportunity Center, seeks to enlist cooperation from businessmen to help avoid duplication of effort — saving time for employers and students seeking summer and career jobs.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade will make opening remarks at the campaign kick-off breakfast, and other speakers will represent government and business.

Last year the Long Beach effort secured about 2,000 youth jobs.

Until this year the job-finding campaign was called Graduate Month, and various Saturdays

during the period were termed "G-Days," when students were interviewed by prospective employers.

"This year, however, we invite both students who desire summer jobs only, and graduates looking for permanent jobs, to register with us and to be interviewed by employers on one of the three Saturdays when we will remain open," Mrs. Mary E. Nelson, manager of the Youth Opportunity Center, 1318 Pine Ave., said.

"The Jobs for Youth days are May 17 and 24, and June 7," she said, adding an estimated 500 graduates are expected to use the center's facilities in seeking permanent jobs, and another 4,500 will seek summer work.

BUSINESSMEN TO AID
HARD-CORE JOBLESS

An all-out effort to find jobs for hard core unemployed will be launched Wednesday when the National Alliance of Businessmen of Orange County meets in the Anaheim Convention Center.

Businessmen and potential employers have been invited to the 6:30 p.m. opening dinner in the Anaheim Room.

Plans for the program, designed to achieve the NAB's national goals, as set forth by President Nixon, will be explained.

Purpose of the program is to find jobs for hard core unemployed persons on a "hire first" basis, then offer them on-the-job training and remedial counseling to prepare them for permanent jobs.

S. F. Eyestone, president of North American Rockwell's Autonetics Division, was recently appointed by President Nixon as Orange County chairman for the drive.

Eyestone said a two-pronged program—one to identify the potential job candidates and the other to find them jobs—has already been started among prominent businessmen from all over the county.

Appointments made include: Richard Berteau, vice chairman, John P. Condon, director of organization and Allen Deming, deputy director of organization.

Unit Allows Blind to See Through Feel

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

The blind may be able to see with their skins, new research indicates.

In a crude way, the ability to do so has already been achieved in a San Francisco research laboratory.

Medical publications for doctors are playing the story big.

The new process is called a vision substitution system, or tactile television.

It utilizes the same principle children do at play — when they trace letters on each other's backs.

In other words, the procedure uses a new device which transmits visual information to the brain by way of the sense of touch.

With training, blind persons already have been able to "see" simple objects in the laboratory.

THE EQUIPMENT TO ACHIEVE all this has been developed by Drs. Paul Bach-y-Rita and Carter C. Collins and associates at the Smith-Kettlewell Institute of Visual Sciences, Pacific Medical Center.

In laboratory studies to date, the subject sits in a dental chair with his bare back resting against two metal plates containing 400 small solenoid vibrators.

A zoom-lens television camera is mounted in front of him on a tripod.

Another device, the commutator, translates what the camera sees into electrical impulses. Then the matrix of plastic-tipped vibrators "pepper" the information onto the back of the blind person.

After 15 to 20 hours of training, the blind person is able to interpret these pulsations as a form of vision.

Blind subjects have been able to tell one object from another even if the objects overlap. Later they can estimate depth and distance accurately, read block-letter words and discern details in photographs.

The current device weighs 100 pounds and costs $90,000. The hope is that within the next 10 years, researchers can refine the instrument so it will weigh about five pounds and cost $1,000.

VISITOR RUNS INTO A MYSTERY
Wilmer Melendez Tries to Locate Missing Sister

JUST HOPING

The Family Gone, He 'Sits' Around

By STAN LEPPARD
Staff Writer

Long Beach was a city in Limbo Friday for a Cincinnati student who stepped off a bus for a prearranged visit with his sister's family and into a bizarre mystery.

The family — sister, brother-in-law and their two children — have vanished without a trace.

Compounding the mystery, other family members on the East Coast and at sea who may know the whereabouts of the missing four can't be located.

The "visit" has been a week-long nightmare for Wilmer Melendez, of Puerto Rico, 25-year-old senior at the University of Cincinnati.

He said his sister, Mrs. Cecilia Braun, sent him a bus ticket, but there was no return address on the envelope.

An enclosed note said she would meet him at the bus station at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Melendez arrived shortly after 7 p.m. and waited. And waited. And waited.

He spent Monday night in the bus station — as well as Tuesday night and Wednesday night — still waiting.

"I am a veteran," Melendez said unhappily, "a seasoned veteran of the Los Angeles bus terminal."

While asleep in a chair Tuesday night, someone stole his suitcase containing his clothing and accessories.

BY THURSDAY, CURIOUS about the forlorn-waiting figure, Mrs. Genevieve Desmond, of the Travelers' Aid Society desk, questioned Melendez.

She sent him across the street to the Society's headquarters at 449 E. Broadway.

Though missing families are an old story to the Society, Executive Director Esther Sayers said this one had complications.

Police had no records of Mrs. Braun or her husband Navy man Hector L. Braun.

The Navy said Braun is a crewman aboard the USS Francis Marion — now overseas.

His father, an Air Force captain stationed in New Jersey, probably knows, Melendez added, but Fort McGuire, N.J., authorities said Capt. Melendez is not on the base and cannot be located.

The Society arranged housing for Melendez while still trying to locate the sister so he can have a brief visit before he leaves tonight to go back to school.

Asked how he planned to spend his last day in Long Beach, Melendez replied:

Medals Go to Kin of Dead L. B. GIs

The nation honored three Long Beach heroes — killed in combat in Vietnam — with medals presented Friday during ceremonies at Fort MacArthur.

Maj. Gen. J. F. Franklin, Sixth Army deputy commander, presented a Distinguished Service Cross — second highest valor award the nation can bestow — and two Silver Star Medals to families of three men who died in battle.

The general gave the DSC to James P. Nelson, of 5500 Ackersfield Ave., brother of Spec. 4 William D. Nelson, a medic who died last Nov. 6 while attempting to aid units of his company pinned down by heavy enemy fire. The citation accompanying the medal said, in part:

"Nelson ran across open terrain to injured comrades, treated them and carried several to an ambulance helicopter... returning he laid down a fire volley on Communist positions, then secured vital medical supplies and went unhesitatingly through a bullet-ridden area to aid more injured..."

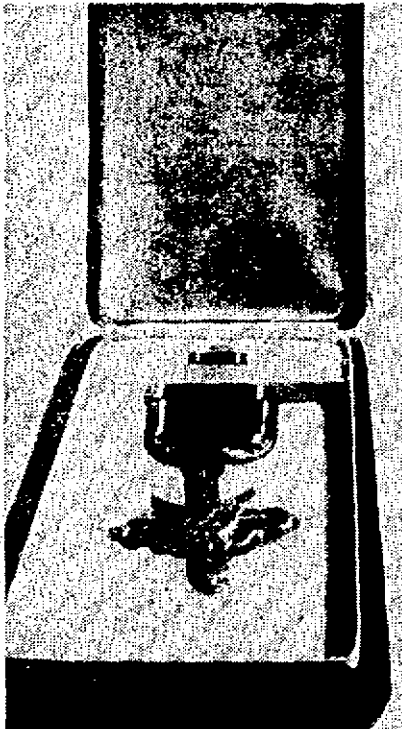

The medical man was mortally wounded, the citation given to his brother said, while he was attempting to carry his company commander to safety.

The other valor awards went to: James, 7, and Tracy Ann, 4, children of Pfc. Donald G. King Jr. Their father was awarded a posthumous Silver Star Medal for exposing himself to enemy fire while attempting to rescue a wounded comrade.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Mercke, of 7232 Metz St., whose son, Terrence L. Mercke, also lost his life trying to save a wounded buddy from enemy gunfire.

The general awarded two other DSCs, two more Silver Star Medals, 14 Bronze Star Medals, and three Air Medals during the retreat ceremonies.

Local civil time, it develops, has no roots of great firmness since it "varies with any change of longitude."

City Asked to Cut Boat Speed Limit

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

A reduced speed limit and stricter enforcement on boats using the upper arm of Alamitos Bay between the Appian Way and Second Street bridges is being sought by adjacent property owners.

Boats using the channel are operating at speeds "far in excess of five miles an hour," and the wakes created are causing damage to piers and floats along the banks, the owners said.

Property owners on both Bay Shore Avenue and Sorrento Drive signed a petition to the City Council, calling for reduction in the speed limit from the present five miles to three miles an hour.

"This is the speed limit in the canals throughout Naples, and apparently there is no similar problem in that area," the petition said.

It also requested elimination of "useless night-time patrols," and an increase in daytime patrols.

The problem is intensified on week-ends, the petition added.

"In spite of literally hundreds of violations every week, no citations are ever written," the petition asserted. "Shouted requests to 'slow down' are either ignored, or answered with derision, since the irresponsible boat operators know they can go as fast as they please with impunity."

The complaint will be on the City Council's agenda Tuesday.

Urge Opposition to PUC Takeover

Giving the State Public Utilities Commission control of publicly owned utilities would be "a very strange and unhealthy distortion of the democratic process," according to Long Beach water commissioners.

The commission directed its president, Robert M. Mulvey, to express its "vigorous opposition" to any legislation which would give the PUC regulatory power over publicly owned utilities.

"The governing board of a city or a district board of directors are elected representatives of the people served," the commission statement said.

"Therefore, they are closest to the situation, and can best determine the rates, the efficiency and adequacy of the system, and the financial problems, burdens and resources," it continued.

"Best of all, they are in a position to make prompt decisions," the commission statement asserted.

"If they are delinquent in their duties, the people have adequate constitutional powers to remedy the situation."

Commissioners asked Mulvey to send letters to Long Beach-area legislators in Sacramento, stating "any attempt to superimpose a five-man, appointed state-level commission over elected officials and their representatives is a very strange and unhealthy distortion of the democratic process."

Earnings Hike Revealed By McDonnell Douglas

The McDonnell Douglas Corporation had after-tax earnings of $34.7 million during the first quarter of fiscal year 1969, the firm chairman said Friday in St. Louis.

James S. McDonnell, board chairman, said 1969 earnings compared with only $13.4 million for the same period of fiscal 1968.

First quarter sales — divided 52 per cent commercial and 48 per cent government — totaled $834,319,776, compared with $900,114,743 for the 1968 period ending March 31, he pointed out.

The corporation's board of directors voted to pay shareholders a 10-cent-per-share dividend.

Time Change Will Make I, P-T Delivery 1 Hour Later Sunday

Although Daylight Saving Time goes into effect Sunday morning your Independent Press-Telegram will be delivered that day on the regular Standard Time schedule.

If, for example, you regularly receive your Sunday I, P-T at 7:30 a.m. you may not receive it this Sunday until 8:30, Daylight Saving Time.

Beginning Monday, delivery schedule will be on Daylight Saving Time.

City Asked to Cut Boat Speed Limit

By DON BRACKENEURY
Staff Writer

A reduced speed limit and stricter enforcement on boats using the upper arm of Alamitos Bay between the Apian Way and Second Street bridges is being sought by adjacent property owners.

Boats using the channel are operating at speeds "far in excess of five miles an hour," and the wakes created are causing damage to piers and floats along the banks, the owners said.

Property owners on both Bay Shore Avenue and Sorrento Drive signed a petition to the City Council, calling for reduction in the speed limit from the present five miles to three miles an hour.

"This is the speed limit in the canals throughout Naples, and apparently there is no similar problem in that area," the petition said.

It also requested elimination of "useless nighttime patrols," and an increase in daytime patrols.

The problem is intensified on week-ends, the petition added.

"In spite of literally hundreds of violations every week, no citations are ever written," the petition asserted. "Shouted requests to 'slow down' are either ignored, or answered with derision, since the irresponsible boat operators know they can go as fast as they please with impunity."

The complaint will be on the City Council's agenda Tuesday.

Urge Opposition to PUC Takeover

Giving the State Public Utilities Commission control of publicly owned utilities would be "a very strange and unhealthy distortion of the democratic process," according to Long Beach water commissioners.

The commission directed its president, Robert M. Mulvey, to express its "vigorous opposition" to any legislation which would give the PUC regulatory power over publicly owned utilities.

"The governing board of a city or a district board of directors are elected representatives of the people served," the commission statement said.

"Therefore, they are closest to the situation, and can best determine the rates, the efficiency and adequacy of the system, and the financial problems, burdens and resources," it continued.

"Best of all, they are in a position to make prompt decisions," the commission statement asserted.

"If they are delinquent in their duties, the people have adequate constitutional powers to remedy the situation."

Commissioners asked Mulvey to send letters to Long Beach-area legislators in Sacramento, stating "any attempt to superimpose a five-man, appointed state-level commission over elected officials and their representatives is a very strange and unhealthy distortion of the democratic process."

Earnings Hike Revealed By McDonnell Douglas

The McDonnell Douglas Corporation had after-tax earnings of $34.7 million during the first quarter of fiscal year 1969, the firm chairman said Friday in St. Louis.

James S. McDonnell, board chairman, said 1969 earnings compared with only $13.4 million for the same period of fiscal 1968.

First quarter sales — divided 52 per cent commercial and 48 per cent government — totaled $834,319,776, compared with $900,114,743 for the 1968 period ending March 31, he pointed out.

The corporation's board of directors voted to pay shareholders a 10-cent-per-share dividend.

DONALD DUCK

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today? Plan for a relatively quiet year of steady accumulation, further education. Marked results of your efforts will not arrive until later. Human relationships now deepen and become more meaningful, less turbulent. Today's natives have a remarkable drift to stubbornness.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your thoughts tell a bit today and thus luncheon is better. Try being slightly more conservative. The full day's effort may pile up a remarkable achievement. Relax and celebrate tonight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Social activity is your most desirable field of expression now. Get started early, put on your belt, and make the rounds. Interesting new contacts are the natural probability.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You are not going to have your way about everything today, so prepare to compromise. The temptation is to overdo, and thus risk illness from fatigue.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your mood attracts people who are just as moody — simply keep a little distance between yourself and the rest of the world. Watching the sidelines can be amusing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your place now is properly in the public view. But avoid getting very close to anybody who seems troubled. Do not wear out your welcome, stay on the move.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you will keep your activities moderate and your comments mild, the Sunday can be a rather good, lively experience despite the upheavals all around you. Withstand temptation: keep confidential matters secret...

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Stay away from crowds and confrontations. Use your energies to concentrate on studies. Summer plans could be considered today, for example. Meditation this evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The possibility is that it will fall to you to alert some unconventional but necessary choir this morning in the community. Your own schedule suffers, but your reward makes it worth the bother.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your duties are clear and simple this morning. The afternoon and evening are best spent making solid friendships. Make an early evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Once you have cleared the morning situation in your mind, the rest of the day offers the experience of observing where others' convictions lie at the moment. Your own plans could then be reviewed intelligently.

AQUARIUS (Feb. 19-March 19): The unexpected is the normal order for you. Personal relations are more important than almost anything else. Do nothing that leads to strain them further. The evening is a long one and well suited for serious reflection.

Famed Opera Stars in 3 L.B. Churches

Leading operatic stars Robert Hale and Dean Wilder, who as a sacred concert team are rated the outstanding duo in America, will appear in three area churches starting Sunday.

Hailed by music critics from coast to coast, they will appear Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. service in First Brethren Church, 3601 Linden Ave. On Wednesday night they will offer a concert at 7 p.m. in First Christian Church, 125 E. Fifth St., where they were cheered by a capacity crowd last year. On Sunday, May 4th, they are scheduled for an 11 a.m. appearance at First Nazarene, 2280 Clark Ave.

Hale is leading bass-baritone with the New York

City Opera Co., under contract through 1970, and has also sung with the Goldovsky Opera Theater, the Metropolitan Opera Guild, Philadelphia Symphony, Boston Pops, Atlanta Symphony, Denver, Lyric Opera Co. and others. A typical review, from the Boston Globe, said Hale is "blessed with a virile voice and the physique of an athlete... showed his voice to have flawless control... beautiful confidence and poignancy."

'Re-entry' Into Life Theme of Fellowship Day

"Beginning Anew," the problem of re-entering society for many people, will be the theme of May Fellowship Day, sponsored by Church Women United, Friday at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Seventh Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Assembly Tells of Final Days

More than 1,000 persons, including representatives of nine Long Beach area congregations, are expected to attend a three-day assembly Friday through Sunday, May 2-4, in Jehovah's Witnesses Assembly Hall, 3341 W. Theme will be "Make Wise Use of the Remaining Time," with acting, student discourses, and group discussions.

A panel discussion at 11 a.m. will deal with four phases of the subject. Mrs. Dorothy Hoffman, volunteer worker at the Terminal Island prison, will speak on the woman prisoner, and her re-entry into society. Jerry Grina, of the North Long Beach Neighborhood Center, will discuss the narcotics addict. Mrs. Sally Conover will speak on starting a career after raising a family. Mrs. Robert Prentice, project director of Women in Community Service, will speak on girls in Job Corps.

Luncheon will be followed by a skit presented by the women of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The annual day is observed by Christian women throughout the world.

Area Rectors Comment on Pike's Departure

Long Beach's Episcopal Church rectors had varied reactions to the departure from the church of former Bishop James A. Pike. The predominant feeling was that his decision was best for all concerned.

Here are their comments, as supplied this week to the Independent, Press-Telegram:

Wants Revolution, Not Reforms

REV. DONALD R. BEHM, All Saints'

The decision by Dr. Pike to leave the church, accompanied by his usual flair for publicity, is a natural step for one who has repeatedly expressed disbelief in basic Christian tenets. At last he is honest enough to admit that with his personal beliefs he really shouldn't be a member of the Episcopal Church in particular nor be part of historic Christianity in general. That he places the blame for his action on the Church rather than on James Pike is in keeping with his role of dissent.

The "Look" magazine article contains an apology for Dr. Pike's actions, but many of his claims are sweeping generalizations or distortions. The Church is not perfect, nor does it claim to be, but it is the Church, founded by Christ and guided by the Holy Spirit through the ages. The Church will never "die" in the sense that Dr. Pike states. The Church is experiencing renewal in all areas of its life. Far from being dead, it is attempting to be a positive force in a changing society. What the Church is going through is reform; Dr. Pike would like revolution.

There is much self-centeredness in his decision — because the Church didn't do what James Pike thought it should do. He condemns it and leaves it. He objects to its authority (which isn't oppressive in this day and age) because he wants to be the authority! One wonders about his lack of humility or the admission that he might be wrong. Dr. Pike's action is regrettable but not unexpected, and it is certainly not calamitous to the Church which has endured and will endure because Christ is abiding in it.

Church Is Still Only Sure Path

REV. DR. DAVID de L. SCOVILL, St. Thomas of Canterbury

I'm staying in the church. This reverses a statement published nationally by a former bishop of my church, who took great pains to tell "why I am leaving the church."

James Pike has a right to his opinions. No one has denied him that privilege, though many have questioned them. He has run the gamut of diversity: atheism, Catholicism — both Roman and Anglican, Unitarianism, spiritualism; and now he plans to try and re-orient others.

He should recognize that we live in a rapidly changing world in which it is almost impossible to maintain one's balance. Everyone and everything is involved. The single source of stability is the face of the church in its Lord, "the same yesterday, today and forever." The institutional church itself is changing — its liturgies, polity and practices. Everything but the historic faith revealed in Christ is in flux.

I'm staying with the church because it has a faith that makes sense if believed and practiced. The church in its practice must change where it has been weak, hidebound, exclusive, mistaken, narrow and divisive. Christians too must change as the Spirit leads us in our discipleship. Interpretations may change — but not the basic faith.

We pray "They Will be done" but we fail to discipline ourselves. In fact, we revolt against any disciplines — even God's. The church has not been blameless — neither has this or any nation or peoples. We are victims of a rampant willfulness to believe and to do as we please. The church proclaims faith in the Way, the Truth and the Life, which is Jesus Christ, who urges us to follow Him, to believe, and to love one another. That is why I am staying — for as imperfect as it is, the church still offers the only sure path for man: a faith, a discipline, and a power which derives from them.

Must Listen to What He Says

REV. SAMUEL L. HALL, St. Luke's

I have always followed with great interest what James Pike has had to say. I have usually liked him better than I liked many of his detractors. He has an openness and a humanity that makes one listen to what he says. I think that every Christian, both clergyman and layman, just has to be challenged by what he has said in his farewell, because there is much truth there.

However, unlike Pike, I would say that I still cling to what Father Klug called "the believing hope" in the church. I look inside the church for solutions, not outside. I profoundly disagree with Pike when he says that those remaining are only the timid, the conventional and the rigid.

In passing, Pike does mention an outpouring of love from members of his former diocese. That sums up my hope, that in spite of its shortcomings, love does exist in the church.

Everyone Will Be Happier

REV. MICHAEL J. FRANCIS, St. Gregory's

Bishop Pike has announced that he is leaving the Episcopal Church. I have a feeling that he has been out of the Church for quite a while. His official announcement that he no longer is a member is a great service to the Church, to his fellow bishops, clergy and people.

Bishop Pike is entitled to his own personal beliefs. He has the right to his personal life. The Christian faith, as shared by the Christian family, is something else. He was a bishop in this Christian Church and had taken a vow to uphold that faith.

He could not, as bishop, deviate from that faith, or that life, without offending those whom he was supposed to feed, lead and protect.

Everyone is going to profit by his announcement.

What effect is his departure going to have? I hope he will be happier, for I feel everyone else will be.

Did Some Good, Lost Respect

REV. FRANK FORTUNE, St. Theodore of Canterbury, Leisure World

I think he is a very brilliant man, very able in many respects, and has done great things for the church in moving people out of ruts and worn out customs. I also think Bishop Pike is very fond of Bishop Pike.

A lot of good men in the church have fresh viewpoints, and still continue to command respect. Certainly someone must always be on the cutting edge, not in front. But people have a way of expecting to have confidence in, and respect for, their chosen bishops. He needs to have some regard for his ordination vows, as well as marriage vows.

The church will be here a long time after he's gone. The Lord's running the church, not Pike. The Episcopal Church was wise in remaining cool, letting him hang himself. Now his leaving is all to the good. He was starting to hurt the church, because people looking for something to hang their dislike of religion on could point to him.

COUNCIL EXPANDS ECUMENICAL EVENT

Will Tackle Crucial Questions in Forums

Following last year's highly successful series of "Ecumenical Forums" on the needs of the church and community, the Long Beach Area Council of Churches will broaden the concept and hold sessions on the Mondays and Tuesdays of May, starting May 5th and 6th.

Six areas will be explored in the 7:30-9:30 p.m. sessions, with experienced and well known resource people available at each.

The topics are: "Communicating the Gospel," with experiences in use of films, drama, worship and mass media. "Youth Culture and the Church," utilizing the resources of experimental ministries, underground films, creative artists, mass media innovators, and a tour of youth "hang-outs."

"Community involvement," with poor and minority group spokesmen, day and evening community tours, urban project directors, films and local church planners.

"Small Group Experiences," stressing discussion and sensitivity sessions. "Interfaith Dialogues," with lay and clergy of three faith groups confronting each other on issues of faith and mission. Also relating to children on an emotional level, new curriculum for church schools, and

'LEND LEASE' IN REVERSE

Rev. Ronald Roper of Sheffield, England, Methodist pastor and shipyard chaplain, will be guest Sunday through Friday at North Long Beach Methodist, 5600 Linden Ave., under a program through which 30 English ministers are speaking in U.S. He can be heard at 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday, then 7:30 each night through Friday.

Noted Trumpeter

Trumpeter Gerald R. Franks, artist in residence at Grace College, Winona Lake, Ill., who played the national anthem before Thursday night's game at Dodger Stadium, will appear Sunday, 8:30 and 11 a.m. at Bellflower Brethren Church, 9405 E. Flower St.

GOINGS ON

Brig. Orval A. Taylor and Mrs. Brig. Taylor will be guests at the 10:45 a.m. Sunday services at Salvation Army Temple, 455 E. Spring St., with the Southern California Corps leader as speaker. The Brass Band and Temple Songsters will supply music. The Gospel Lads Quartet will present many of the old favorites Sunday, 7 p.m. in Glad Tidings Assembly of God, 1900 South St. ... Floyd Woodworth, missionary to Latin America who was imprisoned in Castro Cuba, and is now in Colombia, where a great revival is under way, will appear with his wife Sunday, 7 p.m. in Calvary Temple, 3749 E. Wilton St.

The Kings Choristers Concert Choir of Minnesota Bible College of Minneapolis will present a concert Sunday, 10:45 a.m. in First Christian, 125 E. Fifth St. The 38-voice groups will include anthems, gospel songs, American spirituals and folk hymns. The Melody Chorus, an interdenominational group of young musicians, led by Paul and Evelyn Swan and featuring their award-winning daughter Pam Swan Bryant, will present a concert Sunday, 10 a.m. in Westminster Brethren, 14614 Magnolia Ave. At 7 p.m. Rev. Douglas E. Bray, pastor, will show slides he took in Athens, Greece. ... Dr. Arthur Nickerson, child psychiatrist and consultant to the school system, will speak Wednesday, 7:45 p.m. in Temple Sinai, 2600 E. Seventh St.

Pope to Pray at World Council

GENEVA (UPI) — Pope Paul VI will join Protestants and Anglicans in common prayers in an ecumenical chapel when he visits Geneva in June. Plans are being made for the common prayers at the World Council of Churches, a fellowship of Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches.

The Pope will call on Council headquarters during his one-day trip to Geneva. He will first make a major speech to the conference marking the 50th anniversary of the International Labor Organization (ILO), a specialized agency of the United Nations.

FROM THE PULPIT

The forces of evil are never without cause for encouragement. Much publicity is being given to the weakening of the organized church. Newspapers and magazines feature stories of declining church attendance, rebellion in the church, and now I see where Bishop (?) Pike is starting an organization for those disenchanted with the church.
Actually, all religious organizations and leaders who are contrary to God's Word are and will continue to deteriorate. But let the Word of God speak for itself: "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my Word shall not pass away."
And let me assure you that the church will NOT deteriorate. Christ said, "... the gates of Hell shall NOT prevail against it." We are not having declining problems at Calvary!

ways be on the cutting edge, on the front. But people have a way of expecting to have confidence in, and respect for, their chosen bishops. He needs to have some regard for his ordination vows, as well as marriage vows.

The church will be here a long time after he's gone. The Lord's running the church, not Pike. The Episcopal Church was wise in remaining cool, letting him hang himself. Now his leaving is all to the good. He was starting to hurt the church, because people looking for something to hang their dislike of religion on could point to him.

COUNCIL EXPANDS ECUMENICAL EVENT

Will Tackle Crucial Questions in Forums

Following last year's highly successful series of "Ecumenical Forums" on the needs of the church and community, the Long Beach Area Council of Churches will broaden the concept and hold sessions on the Mondays and Tuesdays of May, starting May 5th and 6th.

Six areas will be explored in the 7:30-9:30 p.m. sessions, with experienced and well known resource people available at each.

The topics are: "Communicating the Gospel," with experiences in use of films, drama, worship and mass media.

"Youth Culture and the Church," utilizing the resources of experimental ministries, underground films, creative artists, mass media innovators, and a tour of youth "hang-outs."

"Community involvement," with poor and minority group spokesmen, day and evening community tours, urban project directors, films and local church planners.

"Small Group Experiences," stressing discussion and sensitivity sessions.

"Interfaith Dialogues," with lay and clergy of three faith groups confronting each other on issues of faith and mission.

Also relating to children on an emotional level, new curriculum for church schools, and through-the-week curriculum.

The forums are offered at a registration fee for the series of $5, or $1.50 per session. The opening sessions will be held at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Seventh Street and Atlantic Avenue, with other locations to be announced.

Noted Trumpeter

Trumpeter Gerald R. Franks, artist in residence at Grace College, Winona Lake, Ill., who played the national anthem before Thursday night's game at Dodger Stadium, will appear Sunday, 8:30 and 11 a.m. at Bellflower Brethren Church, 9405 E. Flower St.

'LEND LEASE' IN REVERSE

Rev. Ronald Roper of Sheffield, England, Methodist pastor and shipyard chaplain, will be guest Sunday through Friday at North Long Beach Methodist, 5600 Linden Ave., under a program through which 30 English ministers are speaking in U.S. He can be heard at 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday, then 7:30 each night through Friday.

GOINGS ON

Brig. Orval A. Taylor and Mrs. Brig. Taylor will be guests at the 10:45 a.m. Sunday services at Salvation Army Temple, 455 E. Spring St., with the Southern California Corps leader as speaker. The Brass Band and Temple Songsters will supply music. . . The Gospel Lads Quartet will present many of the old favorites Sunday, 7 p.m. in Glad Tidings Assembly of God, 1900 South St. . . Floyd Woodworth, missionary to Latin America who was imprisoned in Castro Cuba, and is now in Colombia, where a great revival is under way, will appear with his wife Sunday, 7 p.m. in Calvary Temple, 3749 E. Wilton St.

The Kings Choristers Concert Choir of Minnesota Bible College of Minneapolis will present a concert Sunday, 10:45 a.m. in First Christian, 125 E. Fifth St. The 38-voice groups will include anthems, gospel songs, American spirituals and folk hymns. . . The Melody Chorus, an interdenominational group of young musicians, led by Paul and Evelyn Swan and featuring their award-winning daughter Pam Swan Bryant, will present a concert Sunday, 10 a.m. in Westminster Brethren, 14614 Magnolia Ave. At 7 p.m. Rev. Douglas E. Bray, pastor, will show slides he took in Athens, Greece. . . Dr. Arthur Nickerson, child psychiatrist and consultant to the school system, will speak Wednesday, 7:45 p.m. in Temple Sinai, 2600 F. Seventh St.

Pope to Pray at World Council

GENEVA (UPI) — Pope Paul VI will join Protestants and Anglicans in common prayers in an ecumenical chapel when he visits Geneva in June. Plans are being made for the common prayers at the World Council of Churches, a fellowship of Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches.

The Pope will call on Council headquarters during his one-day trip to Geneva. He will first make a major speech to the conference marking the 50th anniversary of the International Labor Organization (ILO), a specialized agency of the United Nations.

FROM THE PULPIT

The forces of evil are never without cause for encouragement. Much publicity is being given to the weakening of the organized church. Newspapers and magazines feature stories of declining church attendance, rebellion in the church, and now I see where Bishop (P) Pike is starting an organization for those disenchanted with the church.

Actually, all religious organizations and leaders who are contrary to God's Word are and will continue to deteriorate. But let the Word of God speak for itself: "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my Word shall not pass away."

And let me assure you that the church will NOT deteriorate. Christ said, "... the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it!" We are not having declining problems at Calvary!

Come and see a GROWING Church! More than that, come and be a part of it!

How to Maintain Your Enthusiasm

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

If you have enough enthusiasm you'll find opportunity and value in any situation. You will develop drive and get a big edge on success. Enthusiasm makes life good.

Unhappily, there are always plenty of people who show no enthusiasm whatsoever. And usually they insist that their apathy or even cynicism is only natural. Some have a made-up mind that their personal problems are insoluble and that is that. A great many blame the times we live in. "How can anyone live a happy, satisfying life," so they grumble, "when conditions in the world are so confused and difficult?"

But the enthusiast rises above such negative thinking. To him any time is a good time to live. In support of his upbeat attitude he quotes Emerson, who wrote in 1841: "Everyone is criticizing and belittling the times: Yet I think that our times, like all times, are very good times, if only we know what to do with them." With enthusiasm you have the perspective and the initiative it takes to make any time or circumstance good by using it to a constructive end.

Enthusiasm, however, is a quality that has to be cultivated. Lose it and you must redevelop it. And how is it kept going? Affirmation and practice is the answer.

DR. DONALD Curtis suggests the following positive affirmation for daily use: "I move serenely forward into the adventure of life today. I am filled with inspiration and enthusiasm. I am guided and protected by the Infinite in everything I say and do. I project confidence and authority. I am sure of myself" (with God's help) "in every situation. I am filled with the strength and energy to be what I am and to do what I have to do."

Anyone who talks to himself in such manner each day will become increasingly enthusiastic and presently will find he is getting much more in life.

Another means of developing enthusiasm is simply to begin acting enthusiastic. It is a psychological law that, by deliberately acting in a certain way, you can develop yourself into being that way. By acting optimistic you can make yourself an optimist. If you are a fearful individual, start acting courageously, keep it up, and ultimately you can make yourself courageous. The same law applies to enthusiasm. If you wish to be enthusiastic but aren't, act enthusiastic and you will in time develop enthusiasm.

Frank Bettger twice achieved a big breakthrough to success by this very means. As a young man in professional baseball he was fired from a good job on a minor league Pennsylvania team for being lazy. The manager said, "You're a good baseball player. You have the stuff, but for heaven's sake, wake up and put some enthusiasm into your work." The only playing job Bettger could get was with a fourth-class league. The pay was scarcely enough to live on so he was far from feeling enthusiastic.

But then he met an older player who asked, "Don't you like this game, Frank? Start acting like you do." He then came up with the principle that by acting enthusiastic you can make yourself so. Frank was doubtful but agreed to give it a try. He decided to start acting enthusiastic. He improved his game so that soon he was offered a read opportunity with a better team. He had learned an important lesson. As he stated it years later, "Force yourself to act enthusiastic, and you'll become enthusiastic." He went places; so much that the sports writers were soon calling him "Pep" Bettger. And he went on to big league baseball, playing third base for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Then he decided to be a life insurance salesman. He found the first months in this new field the most discouraging in his life. Gropping for some way to improve his approach, he took a public speaking course. One day the instructor stopped him half way through a practice speech and yelled, "Why don't you talk with some enthusiasm? Get enthusiastic about your insurance job." Bettger took the hint and it worked wonders. He acted enthusiastic and became one of the star salesmen in the life insurance business.

NOW THIS does not mean that the enthusiast never fails. There isn't anybody who doesn't sometimes fail. Let's face it: You can't win them all. But the enthusiast has a resilience that enables him to take failures in his stride.

Charles F. Kettering, for many years chief research scientist for General Motors Corporation, inventor of the self-starter and other epoch-making devices for cars, once remarked that he had failed time and again, but "always failed forward." He knew that there would necessarily be failures, but from failures know-how could be gained. Each failure brought him nearer to ultimate success. There's an enthusiasm for you and there's creative thinking. The enthusiast fails forward.

If difficulties or disappointments have knocked enthusiasm out of you, get going on recovering it. Act enthusiastic. Affirm and practice it until you have it. When enthusiasm takes hold of you — you can take hold of the world.

CHURCH HUMOR

"If you ask me, I think this church is too far underground!"

LECTURER

"Are You Living in the Present?" will be the title of a free public lecture next Saturday, May 3, at 3 p.m. in Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, 5871 Naples Plaza by Josephine Carver, Christian Science lecturer now on tour. She will discuss the relationship of the past and present to the future, and to eternity.

BOOKS

Dwight Moody Life Story Told

DWIGHT L. MOODY: American Evangelist. By James F. Findlay. Foreword by Martin E. Marty. University of Chicago Press, $10.

Henry L. Mencken would have handled the life of evangelist Dwight L. Moody with several hundred pages of snickers. On the other hand, idolators have made Moody sacrosanct.

Historian Findlay avoids both the Menckean guffaw and the white knight approach, and properly so, because understanding what made Moody tick makes the reader also understand the country's religious mind, and many of its social attitudes, in the period from the Civil War to the turn of the century, and in no small measure, even to our own day. This is the best biography yet of the most influential evangelist this country has ever known, not barring even Billy Sunday or Aimee Semple McPherson. — H.

Cleric Starts Orphanage in Holy Land Site

A Paramount evangelist is teaming up with the mayor of Bethany, Israel to establish an orphanage for refugees in the Holy Land.

Rev. Cordell Priest, was founder and president of the Good Shepherd Mission in East Los Angeles for 12 years, organized the Mount of Olives Orphan Home while in Israel recently. It is run by a board of directors made up of local residents, he explained this week.

He is working to bring the Bethany mayor, Monmouth K. Abureesh, to the United States to travel with him and raise the $12,000 needed to add three stories to the existing building which has been leased and earmarked for homeless children, he says.

Rev. Priest, of 7126 1/2 San Mateo St., Paramount, hopes to return to Jerusalem to act as spiritual adviser to the board. Israeli authorities are cooperative, he says, since the need is great.

Canadian Merger

A proposal to merge the United Church of Canada and the Anglican Church has been presented to the General Commission on Church Union in Canada. The plan, prepared after two years of study by members of both churches, is designed to resolve long-standing differences in beliefs espoused by United Church and Anglican theologians.

This is the best biography yet of the most influential evangelist this country has ever known, not barring even Billy Sunday or Aimee Semple McPherson. — H.

SAW SIGN, DISCOVERED SR. CHURCH

The following tribute to Moore Memorial Church — the "Senior Citizen's Church" — was received from Miss D. M. Taylor of Long Beach.

EDITOR:

Several months ago as I was driving, I passed the corner of Linden and Third and noticed a sign "THIS IS A SENIOR CITIZENS CHURCH." This interested me very much as I was looking for people of my generation, as well as a peaceful, friendly place, with compassion, and not cliquish.

I did not go to this church immediately. When I was alone in my apartment, meditating, I seemed to feel I was being told to go to the church, and to sing. I had studied voice for many years, but when I lost the hearing in one ear I gave up thoughts of singing again.

When I went to the church I approached the choir director and organist, Mrs. Ethel Mae West, and asked if I might join the choir. I was joyfully invited. I have found my place! Any woman alone, widow or otherwise, who has reached three score years or more, can understand my feelings.

We have a wonderful minister too, Rev. Dr. Hodge McIlvain, the friendliest person in all the church! Come and meet him, get to know what a grand person he is. We have a singles club for men and women.

So I say to those who are lost and forgotten, come to our church and be with friends. Your second visit will make you an old timer.

D. M. TAYLOR

Sees Campus Turmoil Part of Overall Plot

By LES RODNEY

While the external danger of communism has lessened, the "internal danger, through anarchy and disruption, has magnified enormously," says Dr. Fred Schwarz, president of the Long Beach-based Christian Anti-Communism Crusade.

Dr. Schwarz will discuss the situation, with emphasis on the college campuses, Thursday, May 1, at 1 p.m. in Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, 370 Junipero Ave. The public is invited.

The Australian-born former medical doctor has been kept busy conducting schools of anti-communism and anti-subversive forums on college campuses, he said in a phone chat this week.

One such is scheduled for Fordham University in New York and another in Washington, D.C., both in June. Dr. Schwarz has been in the San Diego area this week speaking on the controversial college professor, Herbert Marcuse.

Dr. Schwarz says the "destroyers" at the core of campus unrest are "communists, anarchists and Marcusians."

"Marcuse's special genius," he amplified, "lies in his recruitment to the cause through pleasure and self indulgence, rather than the former hard discipline of the Communists."

HEADS CHURCH UNION Anglican Bishop to Preach Here

Rev. Wilfred Westall, Anglican bishop of Crediton, England and president of the English Church Union, will preach at a service of Solemn Evensong Friday, 8 p.m. in All Saints' Episcopal Church, Termino Avenue and Colorado Street.

The Church Union, says the host rector, Rev. Donald Behm, is an organization of clergy and laymen which promotes and defends the historic Catholic faith in the Anglican Communion, of which the Episcopal Church is a part.

"In a time when detractors and far-out critics of the Church receive so much publicity," commented Father Behm, "it is important that we hear from this outstanding bishop who defends the apostolic faith. The service will be a witness to the historic faith of the Episcopal Church, and we invite all persons in the community to attend."

A coffee hour and dis-

Among Bishop Westfall's wide ranging activities, he is chairman of the Religious Advisory Committee of BBC, chairman of the Clergy Fellowship for Psychological Study, and Chairman of the Police Court Mission.

How to Maintain Your Enthusiasm

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

If you have enough enthusiasm you'll find opportunity and value in any situation. You will develop drive and get a big edge on success. Enthusiasm makes life good.

Unhappily, there are always plenty of people who show no enthusiasm whatsoever. And usually they insist that their apathy or even cynicism is only natural. Some have a made-up mind that their personal problems are insoluble and that is that. A great many blame the times we live in. "How can anyone live a happy, satisfying life," so they grumble, "when conditions in the world are so confused and difficult?"

But the enthusiast rises above such negative thinking. To him any time is a good time to live. In support of his upbeat attitude he quotes Emerson, who wrote in 1841: "Everyone is criticizing and belittling the times. Yet I think that our times, like all times, are very good times, if only we know what to do with them." With enthusiasm you have the perspective and the initiative it takes to make any time or circumstance good by using it to a constructive end.

Enthusiasm, however, is a quality that has to be cultivated. Lose it and you must redevelop it. And how is it kept going? Affirmation and practice is the answer.

DR. DONALD Curtis suggests the following positive affirmation for daily use: "I move serenely forward into the adventure of life today. I am filled with inspiration and enthusiasm. I am guided and protected by the Infinite in everything I say and do. I project confidence and authority. I am sure of myself" (with God's help) "in every situation. I am filled with the strength and energy to be what I am and to do what I have to do."

Anyone who talks to himself in such manner each day will become increasingly enthusiastic and presently will find he is getting much more in life.

Another means of developing enthusiasm is simply to begin acting enthusiastic. It is a psychological law that, by deliberately acting in a certain way, you can develop yourself into being that way. By acting optimistic you can make yourself an optimist. If you are a fearful individual, start acting courageously, keep it up, and ultimately you can make yourself courageous. The same law applies to enthusiasm. If you wish to be enthusiastic but aren't, act enthusiastic and you will in time develop enthusiasm.

Frank Bettger twice achieved a big breakthrough to success by this very means. As a young man in professional baseball he was fired from a good job on a minor league Pennsylvania team for being lazy. The manager said, "You're a good baseball player. You have the stuff, but for heaven's sake, wake up and put some enthusiasm into your work." The only playing job Bettger could get was with a fourth-class league. The pay was scarcely enough to live on so he was far from feeling enthusiastic.

But then he met an older player who asked, "Don't you like this game, Frank? Start acting like you do." He then came up with the principle that by acting enthusiastic you can make yourself so. Frank was doubtful but agreed to give it a try. He decided to start acting enthusiastic. He improved his game so that soon he was offered a read opportunity with a better team. He had learned an important lesson. As he stated it years later, "Force yourself to act enthusiastic, and you'll become enthusiastic." He went places; so much that the sports writers were soon calling him "Pep" Bettger. And he went on to big league baseball, playing third base for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Then he decided to be a life insurance salesman. He found the first months in this new field the most discouraging in his life. Groping for some way to improve his approach, he took a public speaking course. One day the instructor stopped him half way through a practice speech and yelled, "Why don't you talk with some enthusiasm? Get enthusiastic about your insurance job." Bettger took the hint and it worked wonders. He acted enthusiastic and became one of the star salesmen in the life insurance business.

NOW THIS does not mean that the enthusiast never fails. There isn't anybody who doesn't sometimes fail. Let's face it: You can't win them all. But the enthusiast has a resilience that enables him to take failures in his stride.

Charles F. Kettering, for many years chief research scientist for General Motors Corporation, inventor of the self-starter and other epoch-making devices for cars, once remarked that he had failed time and again, but "always failed forward." He knew that there would necessarily be failures, but from failures know-how could be gained. Each failure brought him nearer to ultimate success. There's an enthusiasm for you and there's creative thinking. The enthusiast fails forward.

If difficulties or disappointments have knocked enthusiasm out of you, get going on recovering it. Act enthusiastic. Affirm and practice it until you have it. When enthusiasm takes hold of you — you can take hold of the world.

BOOKS

DWIGHT L. MOODY: American Evangelist. By James F. Findlay. Foreword by Martin E. Marty. University of Chicago Press, $10.

Henry L. Mencken would have handled the life of evangelist Dwight L. Moody with several hundred pages of snickers. On the other hand, idolaters have made Moody sacrosanct.

Historian Findlay avoids both the Menckian guffaw and the white knight approach, and properly so, because understanding what made Moody tick makes the reader also understand the country's religious mind, and many of its social attitudes, in the period from the Civil War to the turn of the century.

If difficulties or disappointments have knocked enthusiasm out of you, get going on recovering it. Act enthusiastic. Affirm and practice it until you have it. When enthusiasm takes hold of you — you can take hold of the world.

SAW SIGN, DISCOVERED SR. CHURCH

EDITOR:

Several months ago as I was driving, I passed the corner of Linden and Third and noticed a sign "THIS IS A SENIOR CITIZENS CHURCH." This interested me very much as I was looking for people of my generation, as well as a peaceful, friendly place, with compassion, and not cliquish.

I did not go to this church immediately. When I was alone in my apartment, meditating, I seemed to feel I was being told to go to the church, and to sing. I had studied voice for many years, but when I lost the hearing in one ear I gave up thoughts of singing again.

When I went to the church I approached the choir director and organist, Mrs. Ethel Mae West, and asked if I might join the choir. I was joyfully invited. I have found my place! Any woman alone, widow or otherwise, who has reached three score years or more, can understand my feelings.

We have a wonderful minister too, Rev. Dr. Hodge McIlvaine, the friendliest person in all the church! Come and meet him, get to know what a grand person he is. We have a singles club for men and women.

So I say to those who are lost and forgotten, come to our church and be with friends. Your second visit will make you an old timer.

D. M. TAYLOR

Canadian Merger

A proposal to merge the United Church of Canada and the Anglican Church has been presented to the General Commission on Church Union in Canada. The plan, prepared after two years of study by members of both churches, is designed to resolve long-standing differences in beliefs espoused by United Church and Anglican theologians.

OPENING SET TODAY FOR MEASLES CLINIC

A measles immunization clinic will be held today and Sunday at the Long Beach Health Department, 2555 Pine Ave., from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dr. L. D. Litwack, county health officer, warned that measles is more than

"a harmless childhood disease—it can cause deafness, mental retardation or even death in children under 6."

Service Set for Helen Jordan

Services will be Monday at 1 p.m. in Sheelar-Stricklin Chapel for Helen Jordan, leader in the Long Beach chapter of American War Mothers. Mrs. Jordan, of 4445 Atlantic Ave., died Thursday. She was 75.

Mrs. Jordan served twice as president of the chapter, and was current corresponding secretary. She was an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, serving as organist for the Fourth Ward.

Surviving are sons, Bert of Santa Ana, Paul of Long Beach, Harry W. of Huntington Harbour; daughters, Mrs. Harriette Cottrell of Palmer, Alaska, Mrs. Annette Thompson of Livermore, Calif.; brother, Charles Sheel; sisters, Annette Sheel, Mrs. Alice Stevenson; 14 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mormon Bishop James Norman will officiate at the funeral.

Vance Hardy Cites Five-Point Platform

Vance Hardy, owner of the Hardy Sign Co., 2465 Atlantic Ave., has released his campaign platform in his candidacy for City Council in the 6th District.

Among the issues he cited: (1) encouragement of small business to remain in the district and flourish; (2) more and better housing for all population segments of the district; (3) placing the issue of direct election by districts to a public vote; (4) greater identification of City Hall with the needs of the district; and (5) a return of the 6th District's stature in the city to its deserved level through vigorous representation.

HARDY, AN independent businessman, said he has "the full-fledged support of organized labor" in achieving his goals.

Hardy was born in Windsor, Ont., in 1927 and was educated in the United States and Canada. He came to Long Beach several years ago as an instructor in the art of outdoor display. He managed the Acme Sign Co. on Pine Avenue for four years.

VANCE HARDY

Before ownership of his own sign company, Hardy performed as a musician with several prominent orchestras throughout the United States.

He is a member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Executives' Association of Long Beach, Elks Lodge 888, Painters Union Local 831

Ceremonies to Dedicate New Office

Dedication ceremonies will be held at 11:30 a.m. May 9 for the new headquarters of the All States Society of Long Beach at 108 E. Ocean Blvd.

The public has been invited to attend the event, which will feature music by the Long Beach Municipal Band and speeches by Mayor Edwin W. Wade, Councilman Ray C. Kealer and City Manager John R. Mansell.

All States Society President Marshall Craig will discuss the organization and its purposes, and the unit will receive an official flag from the city.

Cruchley Vows Regard for Views of Majority

Edward F. (Ted) Cruchley, 61, of 40 La Linda Dr., a candidate for City Council in the 8th District, is campaigning on a promise, if elected, "to respect the views and opinions regarding municipal affairs held by the majority of men and women in the 8th District and will devote my time and best efforts to the welfare of all the people of our community."

Cruchley, a 41-year resident of Long Beach, built and operated car washes in this country and abroad during his business career, from which he is now semi-retired. He attended Poly High, City College and USC.

He served in the Navy

E.F. (TED) CRUCHLEY

in World War II, after which he served as president of the Navy League and vice chairman of the Armed Services Commission. He is a former Boy Scoutmaster of Troop 48 in the Los Cerritos area; has headed Red Cross and United Fund drives, and worked with other charitable groups. He is past president of the downtown Exchange Club and is active in Masonic circles and in the Chamber of Commerce.

NORMAN BARKER, retired Poly High teacher, is Cruchley's campaign manager. Ida Frances Lowery is cochairman.

Cruchley and his wife, Sue, have two sons, Edward and Alfred. Both are graduates of California State College at Long Beach. Edward is a dentist. Alfred is a local businessman. Mrs. Sue Cruchley has served on the PIA of three local schools and is an active member of St. Mary's Hospital Guild.

OPENING SET TODAY FOR MEASLES CLINIC

A measles immunization clinic will be held today and Sunday at the Long Beach Health Department, 2555 Pine Ave., from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dr. I. D. Litwack, county health officer, warned that measles is more than

"a harmless childhood disease—it can cause deafness, mental retardation or even death in children under 6."

1, P-T Newspaperboy, Age 12

"I must admit my route has done a lot for me. I have learned the responsibility of a job. It has taught me the honest way of making money and saving it. My route has given me the chance to meet all kinds of people where I deliver on Lake St., Adams St., Beach Blvd., and Elmira St. in Huntington Beach."

"With the money from my route I bought a color TV, a stereo, and spent the rest on my hobby: photography. In closing I think every boy should have a chance to be a Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram carrier boy."

Mark has carried on a tradition of the Hoist family of having a carrier boy in the family for the past 10 years. We salute him for the excellent job he has done the past three years.

Lakers Nudge Celtics Again, 118-112

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

Elgin Baylor is no longer the forgotten man of the NBA playoffs.

Written off weeks ago as over the hill, the 34-year-old veteran may prove to be the man who lifts the Lakers over a mental block in their bid for the NBA title.

No team has ever licked Boston two games in a row in the finals, and for the better part of 48 minutes Friday night it appeared no one ever would.

Then Baylor took charge in a manner that has made him one of the all-time greats. Before the Celtics realized what hit them, the Lakers had registered a 118-112 victory before a record Forum crowd of 17,559.

The Celtics were leading 108-106 and operating smoothly when Baylor went on his rampage. He scored all of the Lakers' final 12 points and finished with 32, his best effort in his worst play-offs.

Averaging only 12 points in the first 10 games, Baylor now has rallied brilliantly for 29, 24 and 32. And there were some who had written he could never again maintain his superstar status in clutch situations.

Nothing could have been more clutch than the frantic final minutes Friday, and Baylor was equal to the challenge. In fact, the entire fourth period belonged to the elderly gentleman, who netted 18 points in that span.

Ironically, Baylor had little influence on the game until the final stanza. It was Jerry West versus John Havlicek in a classic battle that had the fans buzzing.

Havlicek wound up the individual winner, scoring a playoff career high of 43 points. The perpetual man in motion netted 8, 12, 12 and 11 by quarters, and his basket gave Boston its last lead before Baylor took charge.

West, coming off a 53-point effort Wednesday, was fantastic. He netted 41 this trip, hitting 10, 10, 16 and 5 by periods. The great third stanza enabled the Lakers to wipe out a 10-point Boston lead.

Johnny Egan played a major part in the outcome, scoring 26 points for his career playoff high. He also added eight assists in a sparkling 42-minute performance.

Almost apart from the action was another great duel between Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain. Neither man did much on offense, but their presence was known on defense, in shot-blocking and in rebounding.

Russell got the edge. The bearded wonder out-rebounded his stronger adversary 21-19 and held him to a single field goal and only six points. The Boston player-coach had nine points and, more important, 13 assists.

The Celtics who have won 10 titles in 12 years under Russell, took a whopping 33 more shots than the Lakers, but Baylor (11-15), West (12-22) and Egan (10-19) all hit a high percentage.

An acrobatic drive shot by the tireless Egan at 3:17, cutting the Laker deficit to 108-106, set the stage for Baylor's takeover.

The all-pro forward started his streak with a jumper at 2:52, then put in two free throws at 2:32. Russell made a tricky lay-in at 1:35, but Baylor found the net again on another long jumper.

Working off a set play, Havlicek tied it up at 1:12-112 with 1:05 to go, but the lead lasted only 23 seconds as Baylor, fouled on a drive, sank two more free throws.

This time the Celtics couldn't counter and Egan led on a fast-break. His lay-in attempt fell off the rim, was deflected to the top of the key, and West grabbed it. After 12 seconds of keepaway, Baylor was fouled intentionally.

If free throwing is as much confidence as it is rhythm, Baylor is still king. Both shots hit the bottom of the net and it was virtually over, 118-112, with nine seconds remaining.

As a fitting climax, the Laker captain was fouled again with one second left and made both shots.

"We seem to play better with our backs to the wall," praised Laker coach Bill van Breda Kolff. "We find the answer somewhere, and what is pleasing is that a different guy often comes up with the key plays."

The Boston dressing room was like a morgue. All Russell would say is "We didn't play well," and "this thing isn't over yet."

WORLD CUP COMPETITION TONIGHT

Hug, Tanac U.S. Gym Titlists

By ALLEN WOLFE

The old adage of "a little goes a long way" held true to form Friday night as Steve Hug, the midget gymnast from Chatsworth High, and petite Joyce Tanac of Seattle won titles during the U.S. Gymnastic Federation Championships at Long Beach Arena.

A crowd estimated at 2,500 saw Hug, a 5-5, 135-pound junior, amass 54.00 points in six events to edge Bob Emery of Penn State, 53.75 points.

Hug, who only two weeks ago won the Cal State Long Beach Invitational, trailed heavily-favored Dave Thor of Michigan State by one-tenth of a point — 27.55 to 27.45 — after three events, which were held Friday afternoon.

Hug came back five hours later in the night session to rack up scores of 8.65, 9.30 and 9.20 in the rings, parallel bars and high bar to outdistance Thor, who faltered during the parallel bar competition and slipped to third behind Emery.

"I tried an easier mount on my bar routine and it worked well," said Hug, youngest male member of Uncle Sam's Olympic team at Mexico City. "I guess I had my toughest time with the rings tonight."

Hug was right on both counts as he scored his highest total of 9.3 in the parallel bars and his lowest of 8.65 in the rings. Hug collected 9.0 and above in five of the six events. Ten points is a perfect rating.

Thor admitted he "wasn't in good shape" for the meet, but he took an early lead in the four-hour afternoon with 9.05, 9.10 and 9.40 marks in the longhorse, free exercises and side horse.

However, disaster struck when he incurred several minor slips and a poor dismount in his parallel bar routine and ended with a mediocre 7.65 rating.

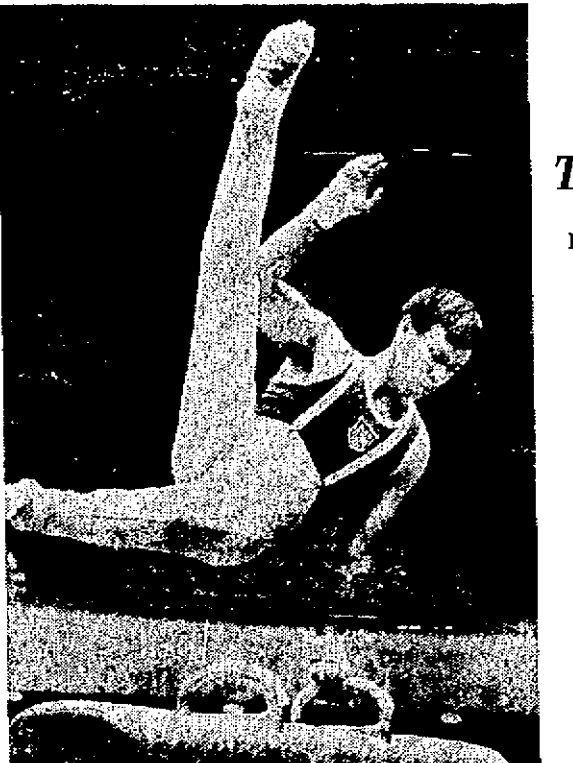

Miss Tanac, the 5-4 brunette who won the women's Olympic Trials in Long Beach last August, showed she hadn't lost any of her competitive edge by outdistancing her nearest rival, teammate Janet Boyd, by a full point—35.0 to 34.0.

The 17-year-old Olympic veteran compiled 8.60, 9.05, 9.20 and 9.15 marks in the balance beam, vault, uneven bars and free exercise routines.

Her uneven bar performance was nearly flawless and was highlighted by a unique mount. She hit the approach ramp with her toes and vaulted over the lowest bar while catching her hands on the upper bar and continuing the routine.

"It's something the Europeans developed and I've gradually worked it into my routine," beamed Joyce.

Lakers Nudge Celtics Again, 118-112

By DOUG IVES

Elgin Baylor is no longer the forgotten man of the NBA playoffs.

Written off weeks ago as over the hill, the 34-year-old veteran may prove to be the man who lifts the Lakers over a mental block in their bid for the NBA title.

No team has ever licked Boston two games in a row in the finals, and for the better part of 48 minutes Friday night it appeared no one ever would.

Then Baylor took charge in a manner that has made him one of the all-time greats. Before the Celtics realized what hit them, the Lakers had registered a 118-112 victory before a record Forum crowd of 17,559.

The Celtics were leading 108-106 and operating smoothly when Baylor went on his rampage. He scored all of the Lakers' final 12 points and finished with 32, his best effort in his worst play-offs.

Miss Tanac, the 5-4 brunette who won the women's Olympic Trials in Long Beach last August, showed she hadn't lost any of her competitive edge by outdistancing her nearest rival, teammate Janet Boyd, by a full point—35.0 to 34.0.

The 17-year-old Olympic veteran compiled 8.60, 9.05, 9.20 and 9.15 marks in the balance beam, vault, uneven bars and free exercise routines.

Her uneven bar performance was nearly flawless and was highlighted by a unique mount. She hit the approach ramp with her toes and vaulted over the lowest bar while catching her hands on the upper bar and continuing the routine.

"It's something the Europeans developed and I've gradually worked it into my routine," beamed Joyce.

Old New Pro Upsets Emerson; Laver Wins

Ron Holmberg of Dallas, who just turned pro at age 31, upset Roy Emerson in the first round of the Anaheim Invitational tennis tournament Friday night at the Anaheim Convention Center.

The score was 25-19, 25-23, as a new scoring system similar to that of table tennis was used in a pro meet for the first time. Holmberg was a late replacement for the injured Andres Gimeno.

In other opening round matches, Rod Laver defeated Alex Olmedo, 25-16, 25-23; Pancho Gonzales beat Pancho Segura, 25-11, 25-19, and Dennis Ralston eliminated Earl Buchholz, 25-18, 25-22.

Laver will play Ralston and Gonzales will play Holmberg in semifinals tonight starting at 7:30 p.m. There also will be a doubles semifinal. Finals are Sunday night.

Tell Tops Field of 7 in Will Rogers

Grass-loving Tell, hoping to follow in the hoofprints of his illustrious sire, Round Table, will head a field of seven three-year-olds today at Hollywood Park in the 29th running of the $33,050 Will Rogers Stakes.

The one-mile event, an important steppingstone along the trail leading to the $100,000-added Hollywood Derby on June 14, will be raced for the first time on the lakeside turf course.

Tell was entered with his stablemate, Makor, and lined up against the Charlie Whittingham-trained pair are Greek Static, Elect The Ruler, Fleet Kirsch, Cherokee Strip and Modern Spirit.

The Will Rogers, since becoming a major test to sophomores in 1939, has been an important battleground for Derby-bound colts. Five of its winners, Round Table, Swaps, Four-And-Twenty, Terry's Secret and last year Po-leax, have parlayed victories in the two events.

Lakers Sign Drake Star McCarter

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Drake guard Willie McCarter said Friday he has signed a three-year contract with the Lakers of the NBA for an undisclosed amount of money.

McCarter was the Lakers' first-round draft pick in the annual NBA college draft held early in April. He was later drafted by the Indiana Pacers of the ABA.

McCarter said his contract includes a no-cut clause. He said that means his salary is guaranteed for three years with the provision that he will not be cut during summer practices.

Greene Preserves Share of Golf Lead

DALLAS (AP) — Slim Bert Greene, fighting growing pressure and the blustery, gusty Texas winds, sank a crucial, birdie putt on the last hole Friday and retained a share of the lead at the end of two rounds of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Greene, still looking for his first victory, finished with a 71 for 137 and a tie for the top spot with Australian Bruce Devlin and steady Frank Beard.

Devlin, a one-time Sydney plumber, had a brilliant 66 in the 30 hole per hour winds, four under par on the tough, 7,086-yard Preston Trail U-Golf Club layout. Beard had a 67.

Devlin had been in the clubhouse for hours and Beard for several minutes, when Greene came rolling home.

Closing out on No. 9 — he'd started on the backside — the 25-year-old blond needed a birdie to tie. He put his drive down

Horsemen Shut Down Aqueduct

Associated Press

While Churchill Downs will be opening its season today, Aqueduct in New York will be shut down because of a horsemen's boycott. Cancellation of today's program, including the $75,000-added Grey Lag Handicap, was announced because of a lack of entries.

Horsemen have refused to run their mounts in order to protest the New York State legislature's delay in passing a bill providing a pension and welfare fund for backstretch employees.

Howard Jacobson, president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. called these workers "the forgotten people of an industry that has poured millions into the state treasury."

White House to Give Duke Birthday Party

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Kennedy Ellington, who can remember President Theodore Roosevelt stopping his horse to watch him and other little boys play baseball on 16th Street in Washington, goes back to his hometown Tuesday, to celebrate his 70th birthday at the White House.

Ellington, whose nickname Duke was bestowed in a Washington high school because he was such a snappy dresser, sat in impeccable garb at a relaxed news conference this week and discussed his life and music.

"I WRITE music just about every day. You have to wait until a state of mental isolation sets in and you just sit there and stagnate in your melody, to see how it feels."

DUKE ELLINGTON
No Retirement in Sight

You splash it all over you. He's currently writing two operas, Ellington said, and all day he had been composing a movie score — to be recorded between two trips to the dentist.

His second sacred concert, "Praise God and Dance," is about to be released as a recording and a third sacred concert is forming in his mind. "I almost know what I'm going to say in it. Our attempt is to do sort of fire and brimstone sermonettes."

And the Ellington jazz band, which he usually conducts from the piano, is booked solid through next April, including a European tour in November.

Why does he keep up the pace? "This is what I do. A change of pace could be shocking. I don't think shock is good and my doctor doesn't think so either. Retirement is never considered. Nobody told me what I should retire to."

Milestones on the way to the top were dismissed by Ellington.

"I haven't arrived anywhere yet. I'm just on my way."

He also ruled out joggling before breakfast to maintain his health, on two counts:

"If I go outdoors I'm going to get fresh air poisoning."

"The purpose of waking is to hear the rhythm of a room service waiter knocking on the door with breakfast."

Michener's Big Bestseller 'Hawaii' Provides Plot for Yet Another Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Mirisch Brothers have discovered a gold mine in James Michener's "Hawaii." The big bestseller has now inspired yet another film.

Film buffs can probably find an example, but I can't recall an instance where a single novel has provided plots for two movies. Sequels, yes — "Return to Peyton Place," "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls," etc.

"But I want to get the message across: 'The Hawaiian' is not a sequel," insists Walter Mirisch, the professional-looking producer of both Michener films. "A sequel uses the same characters and moves them beyond the time span in the original movie. Our picture will use entirely new characters in another period of Hawaiian history."

MICHENER's tale of the 50th state has had a curious career in the film world. Fred Zinnemann was originally scheduled to make the movie. Overwhelmed by the immense story — from the geological beginnings of the islands to statehood — he decided it could be told only in two separate films.

"But our financial people decided we could only do one picture at a time, so Fred dropped out of the picture," recalled Mirisch. George Roy Hill was enlisted as director.

Midway in the location filming, the Mirisches decided Hill was proceeding too slowly, and he was removed. But a threatened mutiny by the native actors restored Hill to command.

"Hawaii" finished far over budget and opened to rather unkind notices, even in Hawaii.

"Nobody liked it but the people," Mirisch remarked happily. Aided no doubt by the popularity of Julie Andrews, the film has already grossed over $20 million, with more expected from reissues and television.

The producer admitted that he was too weary at the completion of "Hawaii" to think about another film based on the Michener novel. But the picture's receipts buoyed his spirits, and last year he began preparations for "The Hawaiians."

"The title came to me in the middle of the night," he said.

James Webb wrote the script and Tom Griest "Will Penny" will direct. The new story covers 35 years, picking up about 30 years after the end of "Hawaii." Charlton Heston will play Whip Hoxworth, son of the character portrayed by Richard Harris in the first film. The only other casting thus far is John Philip Law, as Heston's son.

"Most of the story is centered on the Chinese," said Mirisch.

"I plan to cast the picture true to race, as we did with the first film, and I have been interviewing Chinese in London and New York; now I'll be looking at those in San Francisco and here. I plan to use largely unknowns, and so far I've come across some very promising talent."

Filming begins July 14 on Oahu, then moves to Maui.

Alfred Wallenstein first introduced Berlioz's colorful, uneven "La Damnation de Faust," to Los Angeles Philharmonic audiences during the 1955-56 season. Since then, he has presided over both (1957 and 1965) of the orchestra's revivals of the work in Hollywood Bowl.

He led the latest local performances of it, too, when the orchestra closed its fifth year in the Music Center (several out of town concerts remain in the Philharmonic's 50th anniversary season) Thursday and Friday in Dorothy Chandler Pavilion.

OBVIOUSLY, Wallenstein is something of an expert on Berlioz's "Faust," there was certainly no doubt of that at the Thursday hearing, when his forces included, besides the orchestra and the Los Angeles Master Chorale, solo singers Beverly Wolff, Michele Molese, and Donald Gramm.

The performance moved with all possible dispatch — this was a no-dawdling, no-halting, no-nonsense, reading. And, within limits of soloists' capabilities and the general intractability of the Master Chorale, it worked.

elicited from his instrumentalists some of their more concentrated efforts and — after initial raggedness in Part I — neat ensemble playing.

If the other vocal soloists failed to meet the standard of Donald Gramm's elegant, deeply characterized Mephistopheles, they did some impressive singing during the evening nonetheless.

BEVERLY WOLFF, who was last heard here in "Julius Caesar" during the NYCO's 1967 visit, has a lovely, dark, full-bodied mezzo at her command. Considering the musicality and intensity of her delivery, one can ignore technical inconsistencies in her singing. Her Romance in Part IV, for example, was dramatically convincing and tonally generous.

Michele Molese is no stranger to Faust, though he is new to this version of the legend. Fortunately, he lacks nothing in the way of confidence, so there was no worry over his general suitability to the role. And it may prove to be a good role for him eventually. But, for the present, it is an uphill achievement, one in which straining and inaudibility too often play a part.

'Hot Shot' Role Goes to 'Juliet'

ROME (AP) — Olivia Hussey, the British teenager who won stardom in "Romeo and Juliet," has been chosen for a leading part in a forthcoming film about U.S. drug addiction titled "Hot Shot."

The movie will be directed by Pietro Zuffi, until now a costume and set designer. It will mark Miss Hussey's first appearance since "Romeo and Juliet."

White House to Give Duke Birthday Party

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Kennedy Ellington, who can remember President Theodore Roosevelt stopping his horse to watch him and other little boys play baseball on 16th Street in Washington, goes back to his hometown Tuesday, to celebrate his 70th birthday at the White House.

DUKE ELLINGTON
No Retirement in Sight

You splash it all over you. He's currently writing two operas, Ellington said, and all day he had been composing a movie score — to be recorded between two trips to the dentist.

His second sacred concert, "Praise God and Dance," is about to be released as a recording and a third sacred concert is forming in his mind. "I almost know what I'm going to say in it. Our attempt is to do sort of fire and brimstone sermons."

And the Ellington jazz band, which he usually conducts from the piano, is booked solid through next April, including a European tour in November.

Why does he keep up the pace? "This is what I do. A change of pace could be shocking. I don't think shock is good and my doctor doesn't think so either. Retirement is never considered. Nobody told me what I should retire to."

Milestones on the way to the top were dismissed by Ellington.

"I haven't arrived anywhere yet. I'm just on my way."

He also ruled out jogging before breakfast to maintain his health, on two counts:

"If I go outdoors I'm going to get fresh air poisoning."

"The purpose of waking is to hear the rhythm of a room service waiter knocking on the door with breakfast."

Michener's Big Bestseller 'Hawaii' Provides Plot for Yet Another Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Mirisch Brothers have discovered a gold mine in James Michener's "Hawaii." The big bestseller has now inspired yet another film.

Film buffs can probably find an example, but I can't recall an instance where a single novel has provided plots for two movies. Sequels, yes — "Return to Peyton Place," "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls," etc.

"But I want to get the message across: 'The Hawaiian' is not a sequel," insists Walter Mirisch, the professional-looking producer of both Michener films. "A sequel uses the same characters and moves them beyond the time span in the original movie. Our picture will use entirely new characters in another period of Hawaiian history."

MICHENER'S tale of the 50th state has had a curious career in the film world. Fred Zinnemann was originally scheduled to make the movie. Overwhelmed by the immense story — from the geological beginnings of the islands to statehood — he decided it could be told only in two separate films.

"But our financial people decided we could only do one picture at a time, so Fred dropped out of the picture," recalled Mirisch. George Roy Hill was enlisted as director.

Midway in the location filming, the Mirisches decided Hill was proceeding too slowly, and he was removed. But a threatened mutiny by the native actors restored Hill to command.

"Hawaii" finished far over budget and opened to rather unkind notices, even in Hawaii.

"Nobody liked it but the people," Mirisch remarked happily. Aided no doubt by the popularity of Julie Andrews, the film has already grossed over $20 million, with more expected from reissues and television.

The producer admitted that he was too weary at the completion of "Hawaii" to think about another film based on the Michener novel. But the picture's receipts buoyed his spirits, and last year he began preparations for "The Hawaiians."

"The title came to me in the middle of the night," he said.

James Webb wrote the script and Tom Gries "Will Penny" will direct. The new story covers 35 years, picking up about 30 years after the end of "Hawaii." Charlton Heston will play Whip Hoxworth, son of the character portrayed by Richard Harris in the first film. The only other casting thus far is John Philip Law, as Heston's son.

"Most of the story is centered on the Chinese," said Mirisch.

"I plan to cast the picture true to race, as we did with the first film, and I have been interviewing Chinese in London and New York; now I'll be looking at those in San Francisco and here. I plan to use largely unknowns, and so far I've come across some very promising talent."

Filming begins July 14 on Oahu, then moves to Maui.

YOU'RE IN IF YOU'RE OUT Models of Ugliness Move Into Limelight

By GRANVILLE WATTS

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first model agency for ugly men has been opened and hopes to start a branch in the United States soon.

"We advertised for ugly models in a London newspaper and the response was tremendous," said Robin Wright, a director of the new agency.

"The trouble was, most of the applicants weren't ugly enough. Out of 1,000 we tested, we only signed on 100. Some of those who failed the ugly test were pretty disappointed."

WRIGHT, 24, got the ugly idea along with three other young agency men who all had difficulty getting hold of models who didn't fit the flashing white teeth, pretty, conventional image.

"There is a need for people who look like ordinary people," said Wright. "Usually you have to walk around the streets looking for that kind of face. It occurred to us that the thing to do was to create a reservoir of interesting faces."

"Actually this trend has already begun in the fashion world. People are tired of conventionally beautiful faces. The word that seemed to sum up what we most wanted was ugly."

So we decided to aim for sheer ugliness."

WRIGHT and his three associate, Max Forsythe, 24, Tim Miller, 28, and John Claridge, 24, placed an ad in a newspaper offering ugly people the equivalent of $14.40 an hour to pose for photographs.

"We had to be ruthless in sorting out the replies," Wright said. "After being photographed and rejected we sent the unsuccessful applicants a letter saying: 'In short you really aren't ugly enough for us.'"

Among the successful uglies is truck driver Derek Deadman, who commented: "I think I've got a face with character and I'm cashing in on it."

OFFICE clerk Arthur Sandford, who said he just scraped into the ugly category declared: "Ugliness is in the eyes of the beholder. I'm no Adonis and when my friends laughed at my intention to do some modeling that clinched it."

Laborer Victor Loveday, who seems to be missing most of his top teeth, said: "They say I've got a gaunt face. Apparently there's a need for the gaunt look."

Despite Tensions, Nero Not Fiddling

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In our tense society, an estimated 22-million Americans suffer from hypertension, or high blood pressure. But the good news is that new methods of control during the last decade have cut the death rate from this mysterious disease by 50 per cent.

LADY, do you insist on having your husband help you with household chores? The British medical journal, "Pulse," warns that such activity after a hard day's work on his own job can adversely affect a man's health.

For centuries the Emperor Nero was accused of fiddling while Rome burned. Now modern historians say this isn't true: Nero was at the sea resort of Actium, or Anzio, and immediately hastened to the Roman capital to help fight the fire.

Poor kids are getting an educational break at last, thanks, in part at least to U.S. financial aid to students: In 1968 only 7.5 per cent of freshmen students enrolling in college came from families with annual incomes of $5,000 or less. By 1968 the figure had risen to 11 per cent.

What can you get for a penny anymore? Well, it'll still buy penny candy, a business that is flourishing again. Of the U.S. candy industry's annual $3 billion in sales, almost $200 million of it is in penny candy.

Quotable notables: "A man should sleep sometime between lunch and dinner in order to be at his best in the evening when he joins his wife and friends at dinner. My wife and I tried two or three times in the last 40 years to have breakfast together, but it was so disagreeable we had to stop." — Sir Winston Churchill.

WHAT IS THE favorite pet in American families today? It's the tropical fish by a tremendous margin — if you go by numbers alone. Some 25 million ichthyophiles, or fish lovers, keep 650 million of these finny pets in their aquariums, and that's about 10 times the estimated combined cat and dog population.

Unusual author: Bill Picaro, for 25 years a bell hop at the Hotel Edison pere, is writing his memoirs. His title is a natural: "Take a Tip from Me."

Hard Luck Parent: If you think it's difficult to rear children in today's hostile world, how'd you like to be a mother oyster? She can produce up to a million eggs in a season — and only one may ever grow to adult size.

History lesson: Can you identify the U.S. presidents who bore the following nicknames: "Scribe of the Revolution," "Little Magician," "First Gentleman of the Land," and "Hermit Author of Palo Alto?"

They were, in order, Thomas Jefferson, Martin Van Buren, Chester A. Arthur, and Herbert Hoover.

WORTH REMEMBERING: "If you can't break 85 you have no business on a golf course. If you can break 85 you probably have no business."

Praise for southpaws: About one in 10 persons is left-handed and many feel it is a distinct handicap. But Dr. Bryng Bryngelson of the University of Minnesota says:

"Left-handed people tend to be more creative and more imaginative than right-handed people."

The longevity picture is brightening for married couples.

Fifty years ago only one out of six young husbands, aged 25 and married to a 22-year-old bride, would live to celebrate her 75th birthday. Now the chances are one in four that he will.

Author Will Run TV Topic Gamut

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Author S. J. Perelman will be Hughes Rudd's guest on the CBS Morning News with Joseph Benti Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 a.m., Ch. 2.

Perelman who has written for the New Yorker Magazine since the early 1930s, for films and the stage, will talk with Rudd about the "golden age of movies," Mike Todd, satire and humor writing today, the decline of the English language, televi- sion and obscenity in lit- erature, noting that when he was "a young man agrowing, we used to have to repair to books like 'The Decameron' to search out the dirty passages."

I HAVEN'T thought about George Washington for years and after watch- ing "Meet George Wash- ington" on Ch. 4 the other night I thought it doesn't hurt to go back once in a while and look at some early history.

The program was a se- ries of still shots moved along by an excellent job of narration by Melvyn Douglas. I saw it in black and white and I'm told I missed half the show.

MOVIE THEATER own- ers who are opposed to pay television have a cam- paign under way for 25 million signatures to peti- tions to Congress against Pay TV.

"We started this cam- paign," said Martin H. Newman, chairman of the "Joint Labor and Man- agement Committee to Save Free TV" because "the Federal Communications Commission said 90 per cent of the programs (on Pay TV) had to consist of sports and first-run mov- ies not more than two years old.

"It's a threat to us for the simple reason that we have a limited number of box-office hits to work with. We think pay TV is going to fail, but in the meantime we just don't want to lose any of the pictures we need."

Pay TV proponents note that the theaters once fought commercial TV, too. "For theater owners now to say they're defend- ing commercial TV—after fighting it for years—is ridiculous," said John Pinto, director of creative ser- vices for RKO General Inc., which ended its pay TV experiment in Hart- ford, Conn. Jan. 31.

Leave It To Larry By LARRY MEDER HARBOR CHEVROLET

After show- ing the seven- teenth house of a new tract to a fine look- ing young couple who seemed like exceptionally good pros- pects, the real estate salesman graciously ushered them into number eighteen.

He extolled the unique- ness of its construction, the soundness of its design and seemed especially proud of the sunken den with its elaborate fireplace.

For a final clincher, he opened a side door of the study which led to a paneled room and explained that it was an extra chamber which could be used to start a hobby in. The sweet young Mrs. interrupted at this point and said "Oh, but we already have a hobby!" "And what might that be?" asked the salesman. She re- plied, Looking at tract houses on Sunday after- noons!!!!

Folks, I too am doin' a lotta lookin' for new busi- ness!! Many, many thanks again to my old repeat cus- tomers!

TELE-VUES

Author Will Run
TV Topic GamutBy GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Author S. J. Perelman will be Hughes Rudd's guest on the CBS Morning News with Joseph Benti Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 a.m., Ch. 2.

Perelman who has written for the New Yorker Magazine since the early 1930s, for films and the stage, will talk with Rudd about the "golden age of movies," Mike Todd, satire and humor writing today, the decline of the English language, television and obscenity in literature, noting that when he was "a young man growing, we used to have to repair to books like 'The Decameron' to search out the dirty passages."

I HAVEN'T thought about George Washington for years and after watching "Meet George Washington" on Ch. 4 the other night I thought it doesn't hurt to go back once in a while and look at some early history.

The program was a series of still shots moved along by an excellent job of narration by Melvyn Douglas. I saw it in black and white and I'm told I missed half the show.

MOVIE THEATER owners who are opposed to pay television have a campaign under way for 25 million signatures to petitions to Congress against Pay TV.

"We started this campaign," said Martin H. Newman, chairman of the "Joint Labor and Management Committee to Save Free TV" because "the Federal Communications Commission said 90 percent of the programs (on Pay TV) had to consist of sports and first-run movies not more than two years old.

"It's a threat to us for the simple reason that we have a limited number of box-office hits to work with. We think pay TV is going to fail, but in the meantime we just don't want to lose any of the pictures we need."

Pay TV proponents note that the theaters once fought commercial TV, too. "For theater owners now to say they're defending commercial TV—after fighting it for years—is ridiculous," said John Pinto, director of creative services for RKO General Inc., which ended its pay TV experiment in Hartford, Conn. Jan. 31.

RADIO NOTE: KNAC (105.5 FM), at noon today features two candidates for Long Beach city attorney—the incumbent Leonard Putnam and challenger Phil Poppler on its "Celebrity Showcase." James Harden is moderator.

Committee to Design L.B. Float

Creation of a nine-member committee of "interested citizens with an art background" to choose the design for Long Beach's Rose Parade float has been advocated by a 3-to-2 vote of the City Council's public relations committee.

Selection of the float design is now done by the public relations committee. COUNCILMAN Thomas J. Clark, who offered the motion to create the float-selection committee, said he feels "limited in my qualifications" to determine what is artistically superior in a parade float.

Clark suggested that the committee could be appointed by the mayor, subject to council confirmation, and would be similar to the Municipal Arts Commission.

Councilman William A. Graham, who voted with Councilman R. E. (Pat) Corbett to oppose the motion, was skeptical.

Graham said he attended a municipal arts function, and commented "if that represents a compilation of artistic ability, I'd rather try and do it myself."

CLARK WAS supported by Councilmen Paul R. Deats, the committee chairman, and Robert F. Crow.

"Our float this year was lousy," Crow declared, in seconding Clark's motion.

Earlier, the public relations committee voted unanimously to have the city manager's office determine the legality of having the Harbor Department help finance the Long Beach float, and the wishes of the Board of Harbor Commissioners toward such a joint activity.

L.B. Rites Planned for Mrs. McCune

Service will be held at 2 p.m., today, in Sheelar Stricklin Chapel for Catherine McCune, Long Beach clubwoman and mother of Bernard E. McCune, general manager of S & S Construction Co. Mrs. McCune, of 264 Sunset St., died Thursday. She was 73.

She was a member of the Long Beach Ladies Elks, Emblem Club 106, Grandmothers Club and WSCS.

Surviving are her husband, Irvin; sons, Bernard E. and John, both of Long Beach; a sister, Mrs. Della Kilgore of Downey, and six grandchildren.

San Pedro Chamber

The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce announced election of four new directors Friday.

They are Donald Lorenz, Coast Federal Savings and Loan; Donald Shum, Union Pacific Railroad; Dr. Michael Weitzman, optometrist, and Al Atchison of Atchison Realty.

Whitmore Guest at ACLU Party

Actor James Whitmore will be the guest of honor at an American Civil Liberties Union party in Long Beach a week from today. Whitmore is a member of the ACLU national board of directors.

Also to be honored will be the local "Civil Libertarian of the Year," who will receive an award from Municipal Court Presiding Judge Charles Litwin. The award is voted by the local chapter and given each year in recognition of outstanding contributions in the civil rights field.

The party is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Franklin Waters, 1485 La Perla Ave.

Firm Dissolves; Partners Split County Jobs

The architectural firm of Rose and Fears, of Anaheim, has dissolved its partnership, and contracts with the County of Orange were divided this week by the board of supervisors.

Donald J. Fears will take over a study of future needs and design at the Orange County Medical Center, a project in cooperation with Welton Becket.

Le Roy Rose will assume charge of designing a nine-court addition to the West Orange County Judicial District court house at Westminster Civic Center.

Way-Out 'College' Sets Rummage Sale

Peter Silverman is determined that everyone in Long Beach is going to have the opportunity to "get acquainted" with his experimental, off-campus "college."

So Sunday, "from 10 a.m. to infinity," students engaged in the project will conduct a day-long rummage sale which will include hamburgers—for a small donation—to all who attend.

The "classroom" is actually a house located at 3025 Carto Place—near Obispo Avenue and Broadway—and it is there the strange rummage sale will be held.

"THE STUDENTS have gathered some things to use for rummage—a pool cue, some clay, a lot of other things I can't remember—but we're still looking for more things.

"I'm throwing some things in, too," Silverman said. "Some antiques and other things I won't be needing—like Rachel's bed."

Silverman has already inaugurated Wednesday night poetry readings at the "school"—they're at 8 p.m., each week—and plans other such activities to round out the schedule of activities at the unnamed house.

"WE'VE GOT a couple of names we're considering now. One student said we ought to call the place Silverman's Palace for Creative Activity—SPCA—and another kid suggested Silverman's Home for Wayward Children. We feel somebody else might do better."

Speaker: Dick Cadieu

Learn about an investment philosophy founded on informed, well-calculated investment speculation. With a potentially aggressive capital-gains program in mind, this philosophy is geared to change rather than stability.

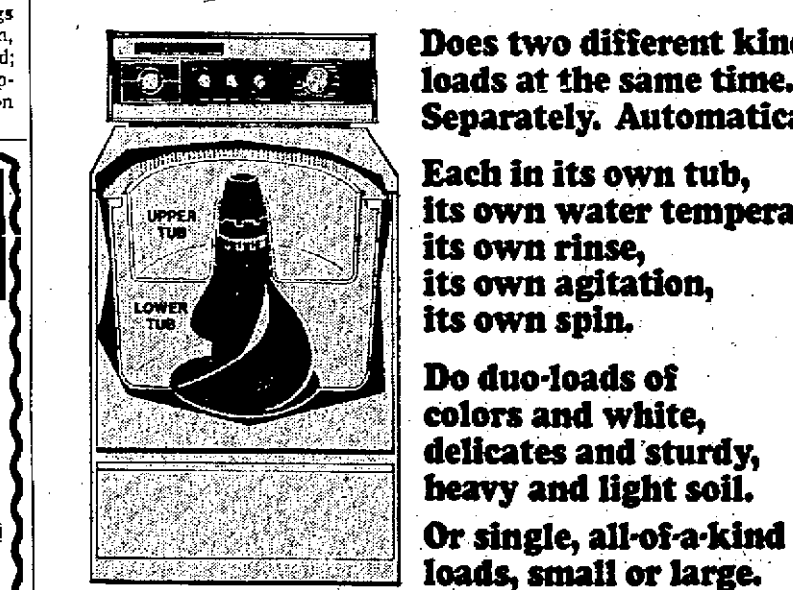

Find out what nine well-defined factors cause changes in a stock. Learn how these factors have set off spectacular gains in recent years. And how to evaluate new candidate stocks using four yardsticks. Learn what we believe to be the proper ratios of risk versus potential reward. In the discussion period which follows, you are welcome to ask questions.

If your own investment philosophy aims for aggressive capital gains, we believe you will find it reinforced by this advanced lecture. For your reservation for this stimulating and educational lecture we suggest that you mail your name, address, zip and phone or telephone us without delay.
